

HIRAM JOHNSON LASHES HOOVER DEBT PLAN; SENATE APPROVAL EXPECTED BY TONIGHT

Nine Council Boards Abolished as Efficiency Move

COMMITTEE WORK SHIFTED, MERGED IN REORGANIZATION

Key Expected To Approve Measure, Which Will Reduce City Governing Bodies to "Less Cumber-some" Group of 26.

MILICAN, WELLS FIGHT FOR PAPERS

Municipal Buildings Committee Formed, Eliminating Job to Which Ed Barnes Was Elected.

Reorganization of Atlanta's city government on a more efficient and less cumbersome basis through the elimination of nine of the 35 standing committees was adopted Monday afternoon by general council.

Mayor James L. Key will approve the abolition and merger of committees as passed by council, it was indicated Monday night. Mayor Key is now considering committee appointments for 1932, in preparation for the organization of council on January 4 for the new year. Practically all activities of the city government are governed through committees, the committee system forming the foundation of the municipality's operation.

Reduction of the number of council committees was brought up by Councilman James L. Wells, who is to head the 1932 finance committee, and Alderman E. E. Ryland. The first consolidation proposed, that of combining the public buildings and grounds committee and the auditorium and conventions committee into a municipal buildings committee of five members, precipitated a stiff fight.

Under the ordinance creating the municipal buildings committee, the post of superintendent of public buildings and grounds, to which Ed M. Barnes, city license inspector, was recently elected, is abolished and general council will elect a general manager of public buildings at the meeting on January 4.

Committee changes under council action include:

The fire committee is abolished and its duties transferred to the board of firemen.

The committee on electric and other utilities is merged with the electric lights committee under the latter's name.

The printing and insurance committees are combined as the insurance committee.

The bureau of municipal research is abolished.

The committee on freight rates and transportation is abolished.

The cemetery committee is abolished and its duties transferred to the parks committee.

A proposal to create a committee on miscellaneous affairs was tabled.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman obtained passage of an ordinance giving an individual status to the municipal airport, which heretofore has been

Jury Frees Deaf Mute In Death of Young Wife

Almost on the eve of their first wedding anniversary, grim tragedy ended a romance begun little more than a year ago in a school for deaf mutes, resulting in the death of Mrs. Lillie Mae Sanders, 22, wife of Horace B. Sanders, 23, of East Point. Both were deaf mutes. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

A man who could neither hear nor through the lips of Fred J. Coolidge, prominent Atlanta manufacturer and an expert in the sign language, Mr. Coolidge is a teacher at a Sunday school class at St. Mark's Methodist church, of which Sanders and his wife were members.

Bereft through his affliction of even the power of exhibiting his anguish, Sanders described the accident which ended his wife's life less than a week before their first wedding anniversary. Official medical testimony given at the trial revealed that deaf mutes very seldom are able to exhibit outwardly any deep emotion. The same ailment that causes deafness and inability of articulation, it was testified, prevents

DYNAMITE 'TRAP' HURTS 4 OFFICERS

Four Members of Raiding Party Victims of Blast Near Pearson.

PEARSON, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A dynamite trap, sprung in the midst of a raiding party at a moonshine still near here today, injured four officers, two seriously.

No immediate trace of any person who might have set off the blast was found, and officers declined to say whether they had any clues that might lead to arrests.

Sheriff Louis White, one of those injured, described the trap from his bed, relaying the information to inquiries by telephone through a friend.

He said the party, including Deputy Edward White and Special Deputies Berry Palmer, Wilbert O'Berry and Levi Corbett, had barely come upon the scene when the explosion occurred as they gathered around three barrels of "buck" or mash.

The sheriff and Deputy White were knocked to the ground, suffering leg injuries that incapacitated them, but were not considered serious.

One of Palmer's legs was so badly torn that amputation was necessary. Doctors said he might not live, O'Berry did not submit his list, as he was

Culbertson Sets Lenz 1,800 And Leads Match by 11,120

BY TOM O'NEIL.
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(Tues-day.)—(AP)—Ely Culbertson's team added 3,205 points to its advantage over Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby tonight and led by 11,120, the largest plus of the 150 rubber match of contract bridge to date, when the tenth session ended early today.

With a new partner, Baron Waldemar Von Zedtwitz, who replaced Theodore A. Lightner for one session, Culbertson won four out of six rubbers, making the series stand in rubbers: Culbertson, 38; Lenz and Jacoby, 31.

The final hand of the evening involved a successful little slam by Von Zedtwitz, who is known to bridge players as "the Baron." But himself prefers plain "Mr." In Culbertson's opinion the Baron retrieved himself brilliantly for failure to bid a little slam previously when vulnerable.

Lenz commented on the session. "We made a mistake early in the session. They made only two mistakes. They failed to bid two lay-down small slams."

One of those failures caused Culbertson to remark, "Oh, O. Waldy!" In the other failure Culbertson said the slam was difficult to bid because his side had a part score.

The mistake Lenz referred to was when he went down 1,800, an unusual amount for a first-rate player. On the second rubber of the session, when vulnerable, he made a psychic bid, the first one he has ventured, and was set five doubled at three diamonds.

In that rubber Lenz and Jacoby lost a total of 2,500 points in penalties and Culbertson's side gained 2,580 points. It was the biggest swing in the match so far. Lenz and Jacoby held six more aces during the rubber than did the opposition.

The big set on Lenz caused a few remarks by him and his partner. "That's exactly the kind of hand

CHINESE PREPARE TO HOLD CHINCHOW AGAINST JAPANESE

Nipponese Troops Push Forward Undeterred by Temperature of 20 Degrees Below Zero.

By The Associated Press.

Undaunted by 20 below zero weather, Japanese troops marched out of five Manchurian garrisons yesterday to sweep clean of Chinese bandits the area north of Mukden and the zone of the South Manchurian Japanese authorities denied they were starting a push on Chinchow, last stronghold of China in the province, but Chinese in Shanghai predicted the city would fall before Christmas and that the Chinese army would have to retreat to Jehol.

Dr. Wellington Koo, China's foreign minister, sent a note to the League of Nations in which he declared the Chinese would resist any attempt by Japan to capture Chinchow.

Dr. Koo issued a supplementary statement interpreted as a warning to the United States to step in under the terms of the nine-power treaty and the Kellogg-Briand pact, both of which, he said, have been violated by the Japanese.

JAPANESE TROOPS MOVE
IN 20-BELOW WEATHER

TOKYO, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Japanese troops moved out of five Manchurian concentration points in 20 below zero weather today to clear bandits out of the South Manchurian railway zone and the district north of Mukden.

It was officially announced that no attack was planned on Chinchow, last stronghold in Manchuria of Chinese regular troops. Observers thought, however, that if the bandits retreated in that direction the Japanese army would pursue, and clashes within the Chinchow area might result.

The Japanese military intelligence service reported that Chang Hsueh-liang, whom the Japanese deposed as governor of Manchuria, was moving from south of the great wall. Some commentators expected the first engagement to be in the air.

Chinese irregular forces in the area to be moved up number 30,000, the Rengo News Agency reported. The strength of the Japanese offensive was not made public.

The Japanese troops moved into action from Suiningkai, Changtu, Kaiyuan, Tieling and Mukden. They were described as being in high spirits, despite the intense cold.

Two Confess Part In Donnelly Kidnaping

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Police tonight said two men had confessed a part in the kidnaping last week of Mrs. Neil Donnelly, missing since November 19, following identification by the victim of the rural cottage west of Kansas City, where she was held.

Arrested on Monday, Holiday, Kan., and Paul Scheidt, who holds a lease on the farm where the cottage is located, near Bonner Springs, Kan., were declared to have related how they were to share in the $75,000 ransom, which was not paid prior to Mrs. Donnelly's release, unharmed, last Friday.

Arrest of Scheidt and Browning resulted from work of three detectives who traced laundry marks on towels used to blindfold Mrs. Donnelly, the trail finally leading to Bonner Springs.

McPherson Chateau
Destroyed by Blaze

Fire destroyed the Chateau at Fort McPherson early Tuesday morning, and badly damaged the Officers' Hop, a clubhouse, causing a loss of more than $20,000, according to reports. Occupants of the Chateau said the fire was caused by an overheated stove.

Five fire companies battled for several hours in a vain attempt to save the Chateau and the Officers' Hop, which is next door. The Chateau, which was used as classrooms for reserve officers, was occupied by 36 West Point students, and several families who were visiting at the fort. They were warned in time to escape by a soldier who saw the flames coming from one of the rooms.

In the Officers' Hop, 40 officers were quartered, and they also were warned in time to escape.

Atlanta Youth Seeks $250,000 In New York 'Heart Balm' Suit

Willie Lamar Perry, of Atlanta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis O. Perry, of 733 Frederica avenue, N. E., Monday filed suit in New York for $250,000 against Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Trabold, charging alienation of affections of young Perry's wife, the former Wilma Trabold, and is known as a collector of fine paintings. In 1927 he announced he had purchased Perry's "Portrait of St. Catherine of Sienna."

Mrs. Perry the younger was reported to be living with her parents. The parents of young Perry Monday night refused to comment upon the action.

ALBANY BOASTS CASH BALANCE FIRST, KAHN HOLDS

Georgia City Has In Bank $2.13 Per Capita More Than Milwaukee.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—This southwest Georgia city wants the town in general and Milwaukee, Wis., in particular, to know that Albany, too, is in good financial position.

City fathers read Milwaukee dispatches pointing out that the Wisconsin metropolis had paid all current expenses, has a debt amortization fund to care for all bonded indebtedness, and boasts a bank account of about $4,000,000.

Then they thumbed over this city's financial ledger and did a little figuring on the side. They said that on the basis of a population of 6,000, Milwaukee bank balance is about $667 per capita, whereas, on a basis of a population of 15,000, Albany's bank balance is about $8.80 per capita.

"Which," the Albany Herald pointed out, "is an even better showing than the Wisconsin city makes."

The paper adds: "Like Milwaukee officials, Albany's governing authorities deny that they have practiced any magic formula. Good government, close attention to expenditures and rigid economy is the answer, they say."

Five years ago Albany had $128,000 notes outstanding. These have all been retired and a current cash balance of $32,000 and $100,000 in a sinking fund have been accumulated. During that same period the city tax rate has been reduced 25.6 per cent. The city has a sinking fund which is being kept up to date, and Albany is eventually retire all bonded indebtedness.

Six Opportunities Cared For; Fund Swelled by $228 Gift

Over the halfway mark went the Ten Opportunities Fund Monday, when subscriptions of $228 were turned in to swell the charity treasury, and six families of Atlanta's 10 neediest are now definitely cared for.

Gaining impetus through the week-end, when Mrs. J. P. Stevens Sunday "adopted" Opportunity No. 10, the fund mounted Monday. Atlanta was beginning to answer the call of destitute people. Mrs. Phillip L. Engle and "Anonymous" donated $100 each. The additional $28 came in smaller sums from seven other contributors. Mrs. L. Engle turned in her check for her donation, and "Anonymous" announced his or her subscription but will decide today to which Opportunity the contribution will go.

Prior to the offer of Mrs. Stevens to care for Opportunity No. 10, the fund had $1,000 in the treasury.

YOUNG PLAN GROUP EXPECTED TO GIVE EVASIVE REPORT

No Concrete Recommendations Will Be Made on Germany's Ability to Pay, Body Indicates.

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A final report side-stepping concrete recommendations will be made this week by the Young plan advisory committee, it was understood tonight. The committee was called here two weeks ago to hear Germany's plea that she was unable to continue reparations payments.

Sir Walter Layton, of Great Britain, announced at the close of a short afternoon session that the experts had decided against adjourning until after Christmas. A holiday recess had been expected as a result of the intransigence of several members.

The decision to report without further delay was interpreted as indication that the economists and bankers on the committee had decided to let the forthcoming European political conference handle the entire reparations question.

At noon it had been said semi-officially that it would be impossible to finish before Christmas if the chapter containing conclusions were included in the final document.

The experts were summoned to a session at 9 p. m. tonight with the intention of working throughout the night and pressing ahead a larger system with the hope of producing a report of between 8,000 and 10,000 words for publication Wednesday night.

It was believed the report would contain merely a statement about the situation of Germany as it was revealed by the German and the findings of three sub-committees which checked the figures submitted by the reich.

This led the new plan members to the attempts of a large bloc of the delegates to recommend cancellation of all claims held against Germany by the former allies.

It was authoritatively said that Germany agreed to omit recommendations and to allow all questions to be settled by the impending political conference.

Although diplomatic negotiations for that conference have been started in Paris, London and Berlin, the belief here was that the meeting might not be held as early as mid-January. It was expected the conference would be put off until a clearer picture had been obtained about what Washington might be willing to do regarding a moratorium or revision of war debts.

Since the Young plan committee has been in session, the majority opinion shifted from time to time.

Sir Walter Layton, a cancellationist, "first led the new plan members to demand abolition of reparations. Under the pressure of the world political situation, the Englishman then decided the time had not yet come for such a bold step. Further trouble arose over the wording of the report and the insistence of the French that the Young plan should not be modified in any way, but to make clear-cut recommendations.

Run Down by Auto,
Woman Near Death

Mrs. F. L. Hall, of Riverside, was critically injured late Monday when she was struck by an automobile driven by W. W. Wallace, also of Riverside. She was taken to the West Side hospital, where physicians said her skull was fractured. Her injuries probably will prove fatal, it was said.

Wallace, who reported the accident, is being held by county police pending an investigation and the outcome of Mrs. Hall's injuries. Police said Wallace told them he was blinded by the rain as he came through Bolton, where the accident took place, and struck the woman as she walked along the side of the highway.

Six Good Used Cars Await Highest Bids

If you wait until Wednesday to bid on one of the good used cars to be auctioned for the benefit of Ten Opportunities, you may miss your own opportunity to obtain an excellent car for half its value.

All highest bids received through Tuesday night will be published in The Constitution of Wednesday. Those received after that time will not be available for publication, and the only way in which you can know of the progress of bids will be to telephone or call to see the Ten Opportunities editor.

Suppose you make your bid lower than you would really go to get a certain car—and then on

MAN, HIT BY TRUCK, IS BADLY INJURED

R. W. Douglas Has Both Legs Broken in Accident on Pryor Street.

Struck down by a truck as he walked into the street, R. W. Douglas, 46, of 785 Primrose street, S. E., a city building inspector, was seriously injured late Monday afternoon. Grady hospital reports showed. The accident occurred at Pryor street and Hendrix avenue, S. W.

According to police reports, Douglas stepped into Pryor street at the same time a truck, driven by D. L. Russell, 20, of 261 Lattimer street, appeared. The right front fender struck Douglas before the driver could avoid the pedestrian. Both Douglas' legs were broken and he received internal injuries.

Russell is held at police station in bond of $200, charged with reckless driving.

First of Two Parties for Children To Be Given Wednesday at Keith's

Wednesday morning, at 9:30 o'clock, The Constitution and Keith's Georgia theater will give the first of two big theater parties arranged for the children of Atlanta.

At the first, on Wednesday morning, the children are asked to bring some form of food supplies as admission. No money will be accepted at the box office. Foodstuffs—a can of beans, a loaf of bread, a cake, a bunch of vegetables or a bag full of nuts or fruit, will be the necessary offering to gain admittance. After the performance, all these groceries are going to be distributed among the poor families of the city who really need things to eat.

The show to be given includes that greatest of all children's talking pictures, "Skippy," with Jackie Cooper, Robert "Bobby" Coogan, Jackie Searl, etc. In addition, there will be comedies chosen for their special appeal to children, including a clever cartoon, and a stage show of vaudeville acts also selected for their youthful appeal.

Children of Atlanta are invited to attend—remember, Wednesday morning, at 9:30—up to the full 3,000 capacity of the theater. They will also be given the opportunity to see the big toy display that Sears, Roebuck & Company have arranged on the balcony floor and they will be personally greeted by Smilo, the clown, and, if he can spare the time from his Christmas preparations, by Santa Claus himself. Santa, if he gets there on time, will be stationed under the big Christmas tree on the ground floor.

On Thursday morning at the same hour, the same performance will be given, again for children, but for a different group, this time. The Thursday show is for those whose parents cannot afford to supply them with any food for the admission price. To those, the Thursday morning crowd, admission is entirely free, requiring only a ticket which can be secured without any cost whatsoever, simply by applying to the theater, to the Salvation Army or to the city editor of The Constitution. For these less fortunate children, the Thursday morning party group, special Christmas baskets are being prepared, with all kinds of goodies and souvenirs. They are being donated by Sears, Roebuck & Company and other merchants, and it is hoped there will be one for every child in the theater.

FOSTER FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at Peachtree Chapel for William A. Foster, 70, widely known retired real estate dealer, who died Sunday night at the residence, 331 Ponce de Leon place, Decatur. He had been active in real estate circles here for 40 years until his retirement six years ago on account of failing health.

Dr. Wallace Rogers, former presiding elder and pastor of the Glenn Memorial church, will officiate at the rites, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Foster had for nearly 40 years been a member of the Trinity Methodist church, and had always taken an active part in its affairs. He was for many years its treasurer and a member of the board of stewards.

Through his dealing in real estate he was known to thousands in Atlanta and Decatur and had a wide circle of friends.

As a Shriner and a member of the Palestine Lodge No. 488, F. & A. M., he had taken a prominent part in fraternal life here since coming to Atlanta from Richmond, Va., 42 years ago.

Mr. Foster is survived by a son, Louis B. Foster, of Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. E. L. Jackson, of Washington, D. C.; and two sisters, Mrs. G. F. Wallace, of Atlanta, and Mrs. W. F. Stevenson, of Richmond.

WATSON RITES TODAY; DEATH DRIVER SOUGHT

Second Victim of Hit-and-Run Truck Still in Serious Condition.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock this morning for Miss Florence Watson, 46, well-known Atlanta music teacher, who was almost instantly killed late Saturday afternoon when she was struck down at Boulevard and Eighth street, N. E., by one of two coal trucks. Rites will be conducted at the chapel of Sam R. Greenberg and Company by the Rev. Dr. Samuel S. Daugherty, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

The condition of Miss Watson's sister, Mrs. Bessie Saine, a public school teacher, of Canton, Ga., late Monday was reported as still serious. Mrs. Saine, who was struck down at the same time Miss Watson was killed, was taken to Georgia Baptist hospital, where an examination revealed a fractured skull and other severe injuries. The two had just visited a third sister, Miss Margaret Watson, of Canton, who is ill at Grady hospital, and were returning to Miss Florence Watson's home, 388 Eighth street.

Police Monday continued their efforts to locate two negroes, identified tentatively as the drivers of the two trucks, which were said by witnesses to have been racing northward on Boulevard. The drivers' names were given as Parkey West and Tom Gregg, but their whereabouts were not known to police. Officers repeated their request for the identity of the man who telephoned to headquarters Saturday afternoon giving the license number by which one of the trucks was identified.

Miss Watson is survived by her two sisters, and two nephews, Lawrence Saine, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Leonard Saine, Homestead, N. Y.

JUDGE JOHN HEARD LAID TO LAST REST

Prominent figures in the city, county and state joined in paying a last tribute Monday to Judge John S. Heard, 66, who died Saturday at his residence on Heard's Ferry road. Funeral services were held at the Cross Roads church and interment was in Heard's family cemetery. Judge Heard's seven sons acted as pallbearers.

Long a figure of prominence in Fulton county, Judge Heard was known throughout the state for his birthday barbecues, which he had given at his home for friends and relatives for the last 33 years.

He was a pioneer citizen and all his long life was interested in the building up of the community in which he lived and died. He was a veteran of the War Between the States, and was with General Lee at the surrender at Appomattox.

He was the father of 23 children, 13 of whom survive him, besides his wife. He is also survived by more than a hundred descendants.

Trustees of Grady Discuss 1932 Budget

The board of trustees of Grady hospital met in the committee room of the Grady clinic Monday night, as the guests of John B. Franklin, superintendent of the institution, and considered the problem of the hospital's needs for 1932.

After a session which lasted four hours, however, members of the board emerged from the meeting and declined to make public their discussions other than to announce that they had been of a fiscal nature. It was understood that agreement on the 1932 budget was impossible at Monday night's meeting, and that it adjourned temporarily.

Samuel C. Dobbs Sr., chairman of the board, said that another meeting

Cotton Blooms Again On Farms in Georgia

While the south is trying to do something to curb King Cotton the old boy is going merrily on his blooming way to such an extent that in mid-December he's blooming again.

Two evidences of the midwinter blooming were reported Monday when S. P. Wright, Columbus coal dealer and Muscogee county farmer, brought to The Constitution a bloom he found on his farm Sunday, and Gordon Aven, son of Dr. C. C. Aven, 429 Park avenue, displayed a bloom he found on a farm just outside of Newnan.

will be held in his offices at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, at which time efforts will be made again to reach a satisfactory agreement on the budget for the hospital.

Pretty Romance Lies Behind Georgia Artist's Rise to Fame

Mrs. Mary Arthur Tompkins, of Athens, Ga., now residing in Italy, photographed beside one of her paintings. Mrs. Tompkins, wife of Lawrence Tompkins, of Atlanta, recently created widespread interest in London art circles with her exhibition in Leicester Gallery of a large number of her paintings, many of which were sold during the first few hours of the exhibit. A noted Georgia beauty, Mrs. Tompkins before her marriage posed for James Montgomery Flagg, and was a flapper girl for one season. Associated Press photo.

BY EDWARD STANLEY.
LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—One of the pleasantest romances outside of books lies behind the paintings of Mrs. Mary Tompkins, tall and tan young artist from Georgia, U. S. A., whose work recently was exhibited at the London gallery.

Mrs. Tompkins was born in Georgia and one of her childhood playmates was her husband, Lawrence Tompkins, the sculptor who designed Bernard Shaw's theater. When she came to Europe with him to live she tried first to act, but . . . "I was just awful. You can't imagine how bad I was."

That remark really begins the romance.

She went in for social life and two years ago became seriously ill. She recovered finally and her husband told her she was going to paint. So they went to a little island in Lake Maggiore. She "took a brush and started."

"I just painted for myself at first," she said, "with no thought of a career, but my friends liked them, especially my Italian friends. I got on well with Italians, particularly the everyday people one meets. I like them and they like me."

Someone suggested that she exhibit her work and she went to London with a half-dozen pictures. The gallery asked her to make 40, from which it might select enough for an exhibition. All of her friends, she said, were shocked—some feared she might even "shame the family name." Her friend, Bernard Shaw, thought her "mad," but when he saw the exhibit he bought a painting. The critics liked them too and spoke of her strong feeling for colors. "One always feels excited before her pictures," said one critic. She likes warm, colorful things, flowers and flesh, and paints mostly nudes and flowers. No, of course, she intends to make painting a career, on her little island with her husband and 13-year-old son.

Her acquisition of the island was almost as romantic as the beginning of her career. One night at dinner she sat next to Prince Borronio and she asked if he was connected with the Borronio islands. He replied that he owned them.

"Then I want the small one," said Mrs. Tompkins, and the purchase was arranged. It is the Isle San Giovanni, which has an old monastery, now remade inside but with an untouched exterior.

COUNTLESS PASSES AT HOME IN PARIS
PARIS, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Countess Jean de Kergorlay, born Marie Louise Carroll, died early today at her home, aged 72.

She was a daughter of John Lee Carroll, a governor of Maryland, and the great-great-granddaughter of Charles Carroll, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Born in New York in 1859, she was married in 1886 to the Count de Kergorlay. They had four children, of whom three are living. Funeral services will be held Thursday and burial will be at Fosseuse, in the department of Oise, of which her husband was at one time mayor.

visible display of emotion. When the verdict was reached, however, young Sanders broke down and sobbed as his mother and sister tried to comfort him.

His testimony, relayed to the coroner by Mr. Coolidge, was that he was at work in the basement of their home when he "felt" or sensed the discharge of the shotgun which he kept in a clothes closet in the bedroom. He rushed in to find his wife lying on the floor, her face virtually torn away by the blast. He explained the presence of the exploded shell in the basement by saying that in his hysteria he had flung it from the cellar steps. His wife had been cleaning out the closet at the time of the accident, he said.

Mrs. Sanders, formerly of Conway, Ga., was 22 years old. She had been a deaf mute all her life. The couple met at the school for afflicted at Cave Spring, and were married last December 26.

FINAL RITES TODAY FOR JOHN HOOTEN

Final rites will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the St. Paul's Methodist church for John H. Hooten, veteran retired member of the Atlanta police department, who died Sunday afternoon at a private hospital after a short illness.

The Rev. E. F. Fraser and the Rev. H. H. Jones will officiate, and interment will be in West View cemetery. Members of the police department who will act as pallbearers are Captain A. J. Holcombe, Captain J. T. Butler, Detective J. E. Chandler and Patrolmen C. P. Hill, J. P. White and Paul V. West.

Mr. Hooten had been on the force for 33 years, and was retired five years ago on the police pension fund. He served as a traffic officer in the uptown district many years ago. At one time he was employed at the Oakland cemetery.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. P. D. Rauschenberg, and kins, when the latter walked from the cell to the electric chair.

The respite granted to Gay was the second given by Governor Russell to men doomed to die this week. Major "Slick" Johnson also sentenced to die was granted a respite Saturday to permit his attorneys to file affidavits said to contain newly-found evidence in the case. Johnson was convicted for the slaying of his brother-in-law, Tobie Roberts.

B. L. Weston, attorney, who obtained Gay's respite, said Gay has maintained from the time of his arrest that while he would be convicted and sentenced to death he would eventually cheat the electric chair.

The prison commission was to have heard Gay's petition for clemency Monday. Illness of the brother of H. B. Edwards prevented the latter from pleading Gay's cause Monday.

PROTESTING "INJUSTICE"
GASKINS DIES IN CHAIR
MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—English Gaskins, protesting to the last moment that he had not premeditated murder, was executed at the state prison farm here today.

The 45-year-old meat cutter was convicted of the fatal slaying of his estranged wife in April, 1929, at the home of her brother, near Metter. The killing followed a call by Gaskins in an effort to effect a reconciliation.

"My crime was not premeditated," the slayer said as he was strapped in the electric chair, "and I should have been sentenced for manslaughter."

He prayed for those "who know not what they do," and asked protection for his 10 surviving children, none of whom called on him in the death cell.

The 1,400-volt shock, administered at 11:20 a. m., only five minutes after he had walked into the execution chamber, cut short some further mumbled comment. His work to the death chamber: a white rose pinned in his lapel by the Rev. E. C. Atkins, prison chaplain, with whom he had spent the morning in prayer and song.

As guards led Gaskins out of the death cell to the execution chamber M. A. Gay, another condemned prisoner, silently shook hands. Shortly afterward Gay was granted a respite by Governor Russell.

The chief executive and the prison commission previously had denied clemency to Gaskins, whose conviction was upheld by the state supreme court in an evenly divided opinion.

Gaskins clung until the last hours to hope that some means would be found to save him from the electric chair. He said he believed "God has answered my prayer that I would never go from the death cell to the electric chair."

He was convicted in May, 1930, in Chandler superior court.

Throughout the case he had maintained he did not plot the slaying of his wife. He said she slapped him as he attempted to cross her when she left him after he had pleaded that she return to their home, and that he slashed her in a sudden fit of anger.

After cutting his wife Gaskins drove away from her brother's home, leaving her in front of the house where she had talked to him in his automobile. He said he drove back to his home in Liberty county and surrendered there several days later without knowing the outcome of his wife's wounds.

Gaskins and the slain woman had three children. His other children, numbering 11 of whom four had died, were by an earlier marriage. His first wife still lives in South Carolina. Gaskins was a native of Chesterfield, S. C. He lived in Deland, Fla., and Syracuse, N. Y., before moving to Georgia.

A letter yesterday from his son, Jack, 23, of Chesterfield, notified the father that the son was unable to raise money for a trip to the prison for a last visit.

WASHINGTON YOUTH WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Georgia, Atlanta and West Point Railroad's 4-H Prize Given Asa Bennett.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—Asa Bennett, of Wilkes county, has been selected the first beneficiary of the Georgia and Atlanta & West Point Railroad's 4-H Club boys attending the Georgia State College of Agriculture, G. V. Cunningham, State Boys' Club agent, announced Monday. Bennett was in competition with other 4-H Club boys who were ready to enter college.

Asa first joined a 4-H club in 1924, when he was 13 years old. He raised only 15 bushels of corn, but he says he learned something about growing corn. In 1925, he enrolled in both the corn and cotton clubs, and found that year, so he says, that corn and cotton would not yield without rain, the projects having scarcely no rain from the time planted until harvest.

In 1926, Asa had another corn demonstration, and in addition he purchased a purebred calf, which marked the beginning of his dairy work for the remainder of his 4-H club life. During the year a slight drought shortened his yield of corn, but he had part of the feed needed for his calf. In 1927, his heifer freshened with a bull calf, which was sold for breeding purposes. Enough sour cream was sold to partly pay for the heifer and the cost of raising her. In 1928, the cow freshened with a heifer calf, which proved to be a non-breeder, which was sold for meat. However, during that year he paid for his cow, and a small profit for his work. During 1929 and 1930, Asa continued to sell sour cream, and his cow freshened with two bull calves which were sold.

Valuable Experience. Asa says his experience as a 4-H club member has meant more to him than the profits from a financial standpoint. He has not received much actual money, but he contends that the lessons learned as well as the pleasures and associations have fully repaid him for his efforts. He estimates the total value of other property which he owns at $350 and the total profits from club work at $150. Bennett served as president of his local club for a year, and also as local leader for two years.

Exhibits were made at the county fair with his crops and calves. Bennett has made three trips to Camp Wilkes, the State 4-H Club camp at Athens, paying his own way twice and coming as a guest of the Kiwanis Club of Washington, Ga., for having one of the best 20 club acres in Wilkes county.

In 1920, Asa was a member of the county dairy demonstration team which won at the district contest in Athens, and stood highest at the state contest in Macon, which gave the team the privilege of attending the National Dairy Show at Memphis, where they represented the state. His team put on a demonstration called "The Use and Abuse of the Cream Separator," standing ninth place in national competition.

High Scholastic Average. During his high school career, Asa made an average of 83 in his junior year and 77 in his senior year. He was recommended for this scholarship loan by his county agent, C. W. Wheeler, under whose direction he has pursued his 4-H Club activities.

Asa is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Bennett, of Washington, Ga.

Pulaski Memorial Urged for Savannah

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP) Representative Montague, democrat, Virginia, introduced a bill Monday to build a $75,000 postoffice at Ashland, Va.

Other House bills included: David, democrat, Tennessee, to build a $100,000 postoffice at Lewisburg, Tenn.

McCormack, democrat, Massachusetts, to authorize erection of a $5,000 memorial to Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski at Savannah, Georgia.

FATHER OF GEORGIAN IS HELD IN SLAYING

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP) Mrs. Minor Dempsey, of Savannah, and her husband, a local attorney, reached a point on a highway near Aiken, S. C., Saturday afternoon just in time to hear the report of a gun.

A few minutes later they were told the shot had been fired by Mrs. Dempsey's father, Lawrence Day, and that Grover Jackson, Day's neighbor, had been mortally wounded.

Dempsey, a local attorney, and Mrs. Dempsey, left by automobile Saturday morning to visit Mrs. Dempsey's father, a farmer of Edgefield county, South Carolina. They were nearing his home when the shooting took place.

Day, in jail in Aiken, claimed self-defense. Coy Busby, a witness, was quoted by Asa Jackson as saying that Day fired just as Jackson aimed a gun at his head.

Dempsey will be associated with John E. Stauffer, of Aiken, in the defense of his father-in-law. Dempsey called an ambulance to the scene of the shooting and later surrendered his father-in-law to the sheriff in Aiken.

E. F. VAN TASSELL, 81, DIES AT CHATTAHOOGA

E. F. Van Tassel, 84, stepfather of Jesse T. Wrenn, manager of the Frances hotel, and, for 60 years well known in lumber circles throughout the south, died at his home in Chattanooga late Saturday.

Mr. Van Tassel's leg was amputated recently and his advancing years counted against success in his fight to survive.

In addition to the Atlanta hotel man, Mr. Van Tassel is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Herbert Bland, of Chattanooga.

Interment will be in the Tennessee city Monday.

PROFESSOR KANE BACK IN BOYHOOD COMMUNITY

KANE, Pa., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Professor Elisha Kent Kane, acquitted in a charge of drowning his wife, today was back in the community of his boyhood.

Professor Kane arrived here last night, presumably to rest from the trial. He resigned from his position as instructor at the University of Tennessee following his acquittal. He has received no offers from other institutions, he said.

It is Mr. Kane being one of Wilkes county's most progressive farmers, and a former member of the board of county commissioners. He is a brother of Nathan Bennett, who has just completed four years at the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

This is the first year the Georgia and Atlanta & West Point Railroad's scholarship loan fund for 4-H Club boys has been available. The fund was established on a revolving basis and will continue to grow with the years, thereby becoming a permanent monument to the far-sighted leaders of these railroad interests in furthering agriculture along their lines.

EDUCATION IN FARMING AIDS GEORGIA YOUTHS

Co-operative Effort Encouraged by Nation-Wide Organizations.

TIFTON, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Farm boys of Georgia are building for the future as never before through the aid of vocational agriculture as taught in the schools and the Future Farmers of America, an organization designed to encourage co-operative effort and intelligent administration, available records show.

Numerous boys, best fitted for agricultural pursuits through environment have been encouraged to carry on the work, and to put into practice modern methods such as are necessary to insure any degree of success, M. D. Mobley said here Monday.

Mr. Mobley is assistant director of vocational agriculture in Georgia and state advisor of the Future Farmers of America. His headquarters are in Tifton.

Vocational agriculture is being taught in 146 schools in the state to 11,375 students, he said, under an act of congress sponsored by the late Hoke Smith and Dudley M. Hughes, both of Georgia.

The agricultural subjects are taught with the aim of carrying out a definite program of farming, with theory and practice going hand in hand. The boys are assigned certain farm jobs to do, and do them, under supervision of trained executives.

And they stick to it, according to Mr. Mobley. A recent survey of 800 boys who had completed their vocational work showed 644 farming or engaged in work relating to farming, or continuing their education in an agricultural college.

The Future Farmers of America was formed five years ago, Mr. Mobley said, and is made up of and managed by farm boys enrolled in vocational agriculture work throughout the nation. The total membership of the organization is about 80,000, Georgia having 82 chapters with 2,000 boys enrolled.

And their efforts are regarded by concrete success.

Albert Soebbe, Epworth, Ga., bought and paid for an 82-acre farm while attending high school. Mr. Mobley said, and the Sale City chapter of the F. F. A. built a 28x75-foot brick store building which they rent. A $200 scholarship loan fund has been formed with the rent money.

The Sale City chapter members last year had an average labor income of $511.32 each for their farming operations, carried on as a regular part of their course in agriculture.

The purpose of the Future Farmers of America organization is to promote "a sound agricultural industry for the state and nation, to create more interest in the application of the principles of agriculture, to encourage farmers, to promote thrift, to encourage co-operative effort, to create and nurture a love of country life, to promote rural leadership and to promote better community spirit," Mr. Mobley said.

"Activities are carried on by local chapters that will help to accomplish the purposes for which the organization was formed and thousands of farm boys are inspired as a result of the organization to put forth greater efforts and to achieve more worthwhile things."

SWAINSBORO MAYOR WINS RE-ELECTION

SWAINSBORO, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP) In the city election held here Monday the mayor, W. W. Flanders, was re-elected without opposition. The two places on the council were sought by F. H. Cadle, John Giddens, Bennie Ehrlich and Felix C. Williams. John Giddens and Bennie Ehrlich were elected. John W. Giddens has previously served on the council and this is the first political race made by Bennie Ehrlich.

Lodges Tax Books Closed.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—The tax books for state and county tax payments were closed at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon, an extra day being allowed because the closing day came on Sunday.

Outdoor Christmas Decorations.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—More than 60 residences and business establishments have announced plans to use outdoor Christmas decorations during the holiday season. The decorations will be lighted up nightly.

Still Destroyed.

NEWNAN, Ga., Dec. 21.—Raids in Spalding county last week, led by Prohibition Agent Hope King, resulted in the destruction of 188 gallons of whisky, 5,800 gallons of beer, and 300-gallon still. The liquor and still were found on premises said to be owned or under the control of John Bostwick and Fred Bostwick, and the beer on land occupied by Tom Harris, all residents of Cabins district, six miles northeast of Griffin.

Scout Delegates Return.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Dec. 21.—Mel H. Goodwin and Tom T. Caldwell here have returned from Tallahassee, Fla., where they participated in the meeting of the executive board of the Suwannee River Scout Council, of which D. M. Ricketts is chairman, secretary, and C. R. Shaw, of Quincy, Fla., is president.

SENATE COMMITTEE BACKS SAM PURVIS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The senate judiciary committee at a meeting Monday voted to order a favorable report on the nomination of Sam Purvis as United States marshal for the middle district of Georgia.

At the same time the committee delayed action on the nomination of G. F. Flanders as marshal in the southern district pending an opportunity for Senator Hubert D. Stephens, of Mississippi, to be heard.

When Mr. Flanders' appointment was first sent to the senate near the close of the last session Senator Stephens, a member of the judiciary body, asked that it be held up in order that he might consider protests filed by United States District Attorney Clint W. Hager, of Atlanta, and others. His request was not at the capitol today and members of the committee thought he should be advised before final action was taken.

Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, was requested by the committee to communicate with Senator Stephens and determine his attitude on the appointment. Unless the Mississippi senator objects probabilities are said to be favorable report will be forthcoming.

Both Mr. Purvis and Mr. Flanders are now serving in their respective districts, the latter under a recess appointment made after his original nomination failed to be acted upon.

ROME, Ga., Dec. 21.—Funeral services for J. Will Duncan, 55, were held here Monday afternoon conducted by the Rev. J. A. Crumley and the Rev. H. F. Joyner. Interment was in the Mountain Spring cemetery.

Mr. Duncan was a pioneer printer here, having been foreman of the composing room of the old Tribune-Herald for many years. He was the son of H. P. Duncan, of Rome, and J. L. Duncan, of Belleville, Ill.

SOWEGA MELON BODY OUSTS 52 MEMBERS

Violation of Association's Rules Is Charged at Meeting.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—Fifty-two members of Sowega Melon Association were expelled at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the association, it was revealed here Monday. Violations of the association's rules were charged.

At the same time charges against several other members were dismissed. The books for new members are open now for enrollment and at the time of the expulsion of the 52 members it was found that 53 new ones had been taken in.

The management states that since the books opened on November 1, more than 100 have been added to the membership for the coming year. New members will not be accepted after the first of May, 1932, it is stated. Since the close of the shipping season the contracts of 150 members have been renewed.

SUPREME COURT GIVEN HATCHER, HADEN PLEAS

MACON, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Judge Malcolm D. Jones, of Bibb superior court, Monday afternoon approved bills of exceptions in the case of Ross Hatcher Jr., and Charles R. Haden, condemned for assault on a young woman here, certifying them to the Georgia supreme court for review.

Vivian H. Roberts, clerk, now has 15 days in which to prepare the record for the higher court. The cases, therefore, will reach the appellate body early in January.

By approval of the bills Monday, 18 days were saved by counsel for the condemned youths. They had 20 days in which to prepare the bills from the time briefs of evidence were approved Saturday. Instead of waiting the entire time, they submitted the bills within two days.

MRS. W. G. SIMMONS DIES IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Mrs. Wilbur G. Simmons, formerly of Atlanta, died Saturday night at a private hospital in Chicago from injuries received in an automobile accident last spring. She had been in poor health since the accident and was carried to the hospital two weeks ago.

The body will be brought here today for funeral services and interment. The arrangements to be completed Wednesday by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mrs. Simmons, who moved with her husband to Chicago two and a half years ago, had been active in church work here, and was formerly a member of the Capitol Avenue Baptist church.

Surviving are her husband; three sisters, Mrs. M. E. Meadows, of Atlanta; Mrs. H. A. Henderson, of Austell; and Mrs. Agnes Paul, of Atlanta; and one brother, Corbelle Thompson, of New York city.

Effort to Wreck Train Is Probed in Valdosta

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP) Reports of an attempt to wreck Atlantic Coast Line passenger train No. 57 were under investigation here by railroad officials after the train crashed into an obstruction near Durden, Ga., Monday.

Officials here said the cow-catcher of the engine was damaged when it ran into a heavy obstruction, which included crossties.

The crash occurred a few miles west of here. Train No. 57 leaves here about midnight for Montgomery, Ala.

CHURCH IS INJECTED IN SUIT FOR ALIMONY

MACON, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Charges that J. Ellsworth Hall Sr., attorney for Mrs. Harold S. Shipp, had "intimidated and humiliated" him with threats to "give the Catholic church hell" if he refused to take a $5-year-old out of a Catholic orphanage were made in Bibb superior court here today by Rev. Father F. J. Clarkson, of St. Joseph's church.

The Catholic priest was testifying in Mr. Shipp's behalf in a hearing before Judge Malcolm D. Jones of a petition for alimony and custody of the children, ranging in age from 10 to 3 years. Judge Jones took the matter under advisement and announced he would study the case carefully to determine the issue in the best interest of the children.

The religious issue was injected into the hearing at the start, the father asserting he would not be a party to rearing the children outside the Catholic faith; the mother, her faith in Catholicism renounced, was equally vigorous in opposition to rearing them in the church.

GEORGIAN SENTENCED IN TENNESSEE HOLD-UP

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 21.—(AP) Will Smith, of Chattanooga, Ga., submitted in criminal court Monday to charges of robbing Willis Tate, student hitch-hiker, and was sentenced to five years in state prison.

His wife, Edith Smith, and a friend, Carrie Lou Bray, were exonerated.

"I picked Tate up and later held a pistol on him and took his money, about $30," Smith told the court. "My wife and Miss Bray had nothing to do with it."

The women had been in county jail since September. Smith recently was arrested in Mississippi.

TWO ADMIT CHARGES OF LIQUOR RUNNING

LYONS, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Nick Harris and J. J. Burns, run-runners, giving Chicago as their home address, pleaded guilty of possessing and transporting liquor in Toombs county court Monday morning and received sentences of $200 or 12 months.

Local court officials were informed that they are wanted in Savannah for investigation by customs officials, Oscar Miller, the third man in the rum car which was wrecked near Lyons Sunday afternoon when the automobile struck a cow, is yet to be tried.

Savannah officers are expected to visit Lyons during the afternoon to take the prisoners to Chatham county.

AUTO WRECK VICTIMS AT FORSYTH IMPROVE

Three Tourists En Route to Florida Injured in Collision.

FORSYTH, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Three persons en route from Michigan to Florida to spend the Christmas holidays were recovering at a tourist home here Monday from injuries sustained when their automobile collided head-on with another car.

The injured were Jack Little, Detroit building contractor, who was driving; Miss Elizabeth Overhol, Ypsilanti State College student, and Mrs. N. E. Musser, operator of a student boarding house at Ypsilanti, Miss Overhol and Mrs. Musser were cut and bruised and Mr. Little suffered several broken ribs. Miss Dorothy Overhol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Overhol, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who is a school teacher at Battle Creek, Mich., was in the car but was unhurt. Miss Elizabeth Overhol is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Overhol, of St. Petersburg.

Mrs. Musser was en route to Gainesville, Fla. Little planned to tour Florida for two weeks and then drive the party back to Michigan, and the others planned to spend Christmas with their families.

Their automobile and one driven by a Mr. Weaver, of Barnesville, Ga., collided near here last night in a dense fog.

HARDWICK TO MOVE TO AUGUSTA JAN. 1

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Thomas W. Hardwick, former governor of Georgia and at one time United States senator from this state, will move to Augusta on January 1 to make his home. He has formed a law partnership with Isaac S. Peckles Jr. and will have offices in the Marion building in Augusta.

Mr. Hardwick was a member of the Albany law firm of Pottle, Hardwick, Farkas & Cobb, which will continue after the first of January as Pottle, Farkas & Cobb.

AGED MAN KILLED ON ASHBURN ROAD

ASHBURN, Ga., Dec. 21.—The victim of an automobile accident on a fog-bound highway, an aged man identified as Julius Amann, was killed near here early Sunday as he walked along the road.

An automobile carrying three college students, whose names were not learned, struck Amann, identified by papers on his person as a brother of William Amann, 12 Boggs avenue, Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh, Pa. The students were put in jail for several hours, but were released after a coroner's inquest. They contributed a sum of money to help defray expenses of sending the body to the home in Pittsburgh, officers said.

TAYLOR CASE ARGUED BEFORE HIGH COURT

Beall Transaction Data Given Supreme Tribunal by State and Defense

Brought before the supreme court for a review under a certiorari order, the case of Walter C. Taylor, former city clerk, convicted in Fulton superior court of offering a bribe to the late J. A. Beall, former member of council, was partially argued Monday.

In Fulton court, Taylor was convicted and sentenced to serve a year on the chain gang. The judgment of the lower court was reversed by the court of appeals and Solicitor-General John A. Boykin obtained an order to have that reversal and the lower court findings reviewed by the supreme court. J. Walter LeCraw, assistant to the solicitor-general, argued the case for the state and Reuben Arnold for the defense.

Taylor's conviction in two cases carrying total sentences of four years and fines of $2,000 were upheld by the high courts last week. The certiorari case, now being argued, and a case on the Fulton superior court docket, involving charges growing out of the purchase of the city hall site, are the only court actions against Taylor which have not been disposed of.

Unsettled Weather Stays, Forecast Says

Today's weather men still reads as Monday's, "unsettled, bad weather, threatening and cloudy with no sunshine and the possibility of showers." C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist, said in making his forecast. However, a decided downward trend for the mercury is to be noticed, he said.

Monday, a murky day, saw a bit of rain fall every few hours helping to boost December's record for the wettest month of the year even higher. The overcast skies are to continue today and the temperature is slated to range between 45 and 55 degrees, showing a drop of 11 degrees from the highest reading of Monday. The high mark of the mercury Monday was 61 degrees in the morning and it fell slowly but constantly during the remainder of the day until at 4 o'clock when the last reading was taken the thermometer registered 51 degrees.

LAWRENCEVILLE MAN IS HELD IN ROBBERY

F. G. Etheridge, 33, of Lawrenceville, Monday was held for action by the Fulton county grand jury on charges of robbery, when his preliminary hearing was held in recorder's court. Etheridge was alleged to have been one of a pair of bandits who entered the offices of the Union Investment Company, 341-2 Peachtree street, early Saturday evening and robbed D. C. Johnson, employee of the company, of $300.75.

Police Monday continued their search for the companion of Etheridge. He was described as being slight of build, young and of medium height. Etheridge told police he did not know the identity of his companion, having picked him up, he said, in a downtown pool room Saturday afternoon.

Ohio Heiress, Missing Three Days, Is Found in Rhode Island Hotel

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A widespread search for Virginia Penfield, 19-year-old Columbus (Ohio)

heir, ended today when she was found in a local hotel.

Dr. Arthur Brown, hotel physician, said the girl was ill, due to over-exhaustion. He refused to permit questioning of her beyond a brief interrogation by police which served to confirm her identification. The girl disappeared from Philadelphia last Thursday while en route home from a fashionable school. Next day she registered at the Narragansett hotel here as "B. Scott." Attaches of the hotel said she had left her room only once or twice since her arrival. She had no visitors, they said.

Dr. Brown identified the girl when he was called to give medical attention. He said she readily gave "Virginia" as her first name and appeared hazy about her last name, but finally furnished it. Told that her father was seeking her, Dr. Brown said she asked that he be notified of her whereabouts. At this point, Dr. Brown said, she buried her head in the bed-clothing and he advised against further questioning.

Chief of Detectives John Kelly and Mrs. Mae MacDonald, a woman protective officer, called to interview the girl, but the physician advised against it. Kelly found a card in the girl's room bearing the inscription, "Penfield, 341 South Columbia Road, Bexley, Columbus, O." He also said jewelry and clothing found in her room checked with descriptions broadcast when her disappearance was announced.

After notifying her father, Clare J. Penfield, Columbus chain store head, Brown administered a sedative and requested that the police refrain from interrogation. Mrs. MacDonald remained on duty in the girl's room, refusing admission to all pending arrival of her father. He was expected tonight.

Kelly said the girl told him the last thing she remembered clearly was a visit to a Philadelphia department store, and had only vague recollections of riding on railroad trains. She told Kelly she had no reason for visiting this city and had not been here before.

DARRAGH IS PROMOTED BY PULLMAN COMPANY

Assistant Is Appointed Manager of Shops Here to Succeed Geiger.

James Darragh, who has been assistant manager of the Atlanta Pullman shops for several years, has been promoted to manager, according to report from the general office of the Pullman Company in Chicago. Mr. Darragh succeeds Fred Geiger, who has been transferred to St. Louis.

In point of service, Mr. Darragh is one of the oldest employees of the Pullman Company, having been employed by them for 45 years. He entered the company as office boy to the general foreman of the Pullman shops in Chicago, and remained in that city for 41 years, being constantly promoted and when he left Chicago he was general foreman of the Chicago plant.

When the Atlanta shop was opened several years ago Mr. Darragh was transferred as assistant manager of the Atlanta shops, and has done much to assist materially in establishing the shops. He has an enviable record with the Pullman Company.

Mr. Darragh is from Indiana and married Miss Lena Horn, also of Indiana. They now reside at 828 Adair avenue.

Relief Center Will Distribute Mountain of Christmas 'Goodies'

A mountain of Christmas "goodies"—oranges, apples, candies and nuts—is ready for the big free party to be given to children of Atlanta at the City Relief Center Christmas morning. Everything will be free and every child that Santa Claus fails to visit is invited to be on hand at 9 o'clock at the center, which is located in the annex of the city auditorium, and get a Christmas package. There is only one thing to do. Today or tomorrow children who want to attend the party Christmas must go to the relief center and get a free ticket for the event. Parents of children too young to make the trip alone will be given tickets free of charge by J. R. Nix, superintendent of the center.

Lawson Turner, Atlanta attorney and secretary of the center, Monday said there now is sufficient "goodies" for the 1,500 children expected to be on hand. The Christmas tree, decorated with electric lights and trimmed with bangles, is already waiting, and everything is in readiness. It was Mr. Turner who conceived the idea of arranging for a citywide party for every poor child in Atlanta. Through The Constitution he appealed to Atlantans to donate fruit, candy and nuts, and the people have responded generously, he said. Monday Mrs. J. E. C. Pedder, learning that more nuts were needed, sent 100 pounds of prime pecans to the center, and other Atlantans sent quantities ranging from 5 to 10 pounds.

So now everything is ready except the calendar. Be sure to get your free ticket today or tomorrow.

Four Churches Receive Prizes In Good Samaritan Contest

Four prize winners in the Good Samaritan prize competition were announced Monday. Some of the winners have led consistently since the contest opened.

The first prize of $80 went to the Moreland Avenue Baptist church, Mrs. J. G. Street, chairman. This is a new entry, but Mrs. Street said the church expects to continue in the race.

The second prize of $35 was taken by the Western Heights Baptist church, Mrs. F. R. Martin, chairman. This entry has been a consistent winner from the start. Rev. M. W. Albert, the pastor, is enthusiastic and says the contest has greatly helped the spirit of co-operation in church work.

The Calvary Methodist church won third prize of $25. Mrs. Augusta Beyers is chairman. This entry has won every time it voted.

Fourth prize of $12 was taken by the Capitol View Baptist church, Mrs. O. E. Acree, chairman. This is another enthusiastic worker and consistent winner.

The competition is growing as the merchants begin to feel the effect of the buying power of the churches. More than a million votes have been cast by the winning churches. Many new churches are planning to enter the contest after January 1, and are saving tokens of their purchases.

Hereafter the names of the prize winners will be announced in Wednesday morning's Constitution instead of Tuesday. The change is due to the fact that more time is needed to count the votes.

NAVAL INSPECTORS HERE IN JANUARY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Naval reserve units in Atlanta, Birmingham and New Orleans will be inspected January 4, 5 and 6 by the naval reserve inspection board.

There are two navy reserve battalions in Atlanta under command of Lieutenant Harry F. Dobbs. Battalion No. 1 was given first place in the United States when inspected by the board last year.

BOOTH MUMMY CLAIM WEAKENED BY LETTER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A 24-year-old letter was made public by a Memphis businessman today in an effort to refute the claim that a mummy under examination at Chicago is that of John Wilkes Booth.

The letter was written to A. R. Taylor by R. B. Garrett, on whose father's farm Booth was supposed to have been killed April 26, 1865. Mr. Garrett, pastor of a Portsmouth, Va., church on October 24, 1907, when the letter was written, told of witnessing the identification of Booth after he had been killed.

He said he saw a doctor identify the scar on Booth's neck where a tumor had been removed, saw a detective roll up the dead man's sleeve to reveal the tattooed initials "J. W. B.", and remembered reading Booth's account of killing President Lincoln in his diary, which was found on him. He also said he heard Booth make a dying request to "tell my mother I died for my country. I did what I thought was best."

ALBERT DENT QUILTS POST AT MOREHOUSE

Morehouse College announces that Albert W. Dent, for three years alumni secretary of the college, has resigned to become superintendent of the new Flint-Goodridge hospital which will open in New Orleans on February 1. In his three years of work he has been able to gather and record data in regard to 95 per cent of the alumni. In addition he has secured for the endowment fund pledges amounting to $115,000, of which $30,000 has been paid.

Dent is a native of Atlanta, and a graduate of Morehouse. His first business experience was with the Atlanta Life Insurance Company as auditor. He then became vice president of the Safety Construction Company, of Houston, whence he was called back to Morehouse College in October, 1928.

OKLAHOMA DEFEATS MURRAY'S TAX BILL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Complete unofficial returns from Friday's special initiative election in Oklahoma as tabulated by the Associated Press today showed Governor W. H. Murray's income tax law, which received the heaviest vote, was defeated by 27,907 votes.

Mortuary Burns.

The funeral parlors of James Chandler at 168 Houston street, were badly damaged by fire of an unknown origin early Monday morning, according to fire department records. The one-story frame building was occupied by two negro employees who escaped without injury. There were no bodies in the establishment, it was said.

Bavarian Crown Gems Auctioned in London

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Wittelsbach blue diamond, gem of the Bavarian crown jewels, was auctioned off today for 5,600 pounds sterling in the presence of a great throng of experts and jewel lovers. Women craned forward and their eyes glistened as piece after piece of this famous collection, sent here recently from Munich, was held up so that its sparkling radiance could be displayed and then put under the hammer. A brilliant diamond pendant brought 4,000 pounds sterling, while another lot, including a diamond tiara, realized 7,000 pounds sterling. Competition for the emeralds in the collection was even keener than for the diamonds. One stone, a magnificent specimen weighing more than 53 carats, sold for 5,000 pounds sterling. The complete collection realized 29,300 pounds sterling.

December 19, 1931

Dear Sir:

We're paging men for a very special announcement. On Tuesday night, December 22nd, from 6 to 9 P. M., we are hanging "For-Men-Only" signs on our doors. Believe it or not, this is the one time in the year when a woman can't follow you around. The Missus will be among the missing, and so will the rest of your feminine friends and relations who have been snooping around trying to find out what you're going to give them for Christmas.

The only girls in sight will be Iris Lee and her assistants, who will help you make up your mind about gifts for everybody from Aunt Minnie to the maid. You can roam the store; buy what you please; pay what you please— with never a woman to snatch things out of your hands jab you in the ribs with bundles, and otherwise interfere with your happiness, progress and peace of mind.

Remember the night—Tuesday, December 22nd, from 6 to 9 P. M.—"Men's Night" at Davison's. We're expecting you.

NURSERY HEARING WILL END TODAY

Mrs. Drummond Takes Stand, Denies Charges Against Home.

A decision by Judge Garland M. Watkins, of juvenile court, as to whether eight children in a nursery at 331 Fourth street, N. E., are under improper and insufficient guardianship is expected this morning when a hearing before him is slated to be brought to a close.

The charges were made against Mrs. W. Clyde Drummond, operator of the home, by Mrs. Lora Davis, policeman, and the case was heard before Judge Watkins last Friday. Mrs. Davis seeks to have the children taken under the care of the court for placement. The case was continued Monday afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning at the request of Joe Bernman, attorney for Mrs. Drummond, who asked the court if he might be excused to attend a meeting of city council of which he is a member.

The feature of the hearing Monday was Mrs. Drummond's own statement and the overruling of a motion that the case be dismissed.

The first defense witness was O. H. Penley, police chief's secretary, and R. P. Burnett of the police department. Both testified as to the good character of Mrs. Drummond, but on cross-examination Penley stated that he had never been in the nursery and knew nothing of it from first-hand information.

Mrs. Drummond took the stand to deny the accusations that the home was not sufficiently warmed, that there was not enough bed linen, and that the food was improper. She asserted that she was a mother herself and that she had discharged a number of nurses for inefficiency when the children did not get the care they should.

On cross-examination she admitted that she did not have a license to operate such a home since she moved the location of one she operated previously on St. Charles avenue.

The principal witness for Mrs. Davis Monday morning was Mrs. Mary F. Coffey, nurse for the Shiloh Arms, who occupied the upper part of the home on St. Charles which was used by Mrs. Drummond for a nursery there. Mrs. Coffey testified that the children were not properly cared

Jobless Actors Put on Good Show, But See 'House' Ruined by Weather

A group of performers, including unemployed professionals, local radio artists and pupils from various Atlanta dancing and vocal schools, displayed rare courage Monday night in carrying through their announced program at the Atlanta theater in the face of weather that kept almost all the individual ingredients of an audience at home. Even the managers and performers had to admit that they blamed no one for staying by the home fireside on a night like Monday.

Despite the paucity of audience, however—which it is believed will be overcome with improved weather for the rest of the week—the people on the stage worked hard and gave of their best. In proportion to the small group which witnessed the show, the applause was utterly satisfactory and everyone seemed to have a good time and get his money's worth.

There was an orchestra of a dozen musicians and ten acts of vaudeville that ranged all the way from grand opera to low comedy. Rube comedians tried with the blackface, buck and wing dancers competed for approval with acrobatic and classic singers of parodies drew applause with warblers of arias from "La Bohème" and the group which had taken blankets of heat from the children on one occasion.

for and that she requested Mrs. Drummond to move and asked the police committee of council not to issue her a permit to operate the nursery in the lower part of her home. She stated that Mrs. Drummond was to furnish heat for the entire house while using the lower floor, but that she failed to do so. She asserted that she had taken blankets of heat from the children on one occasion.

The feature of the hearing Monday was Mrs. Drummond's own statement and the overruling of a motion that the case be dismissed.

The first defense witness was O. H. Penley, police chief's secretary, and R. P. Burnett of the police department. Both testified as to the good character of Mrs. Drummond, but on cross-examination Penley stated that he had never been in the nursery and knew nothing of it from first-hand information.

On cross-examination she admitted that she did not have a license to operate such a home since she moved the location of one she operated previously on St. Charles avenue.

The principal witness for Mrs. Davis Monday morning was Mrs. Mary F. Coffey, nurse for the Shiloh Arms, who occupied the upper part of the home on St. Charles which was used by Mrs. Drummond for a nursery there. Mrs. Coffey testified that the children were not properly cared there were no programs, no credit cannot be given by name.

The performances are to be staged twice daily, at 2:30 and 8:30, at the Atlanta theater all this week, with the entire proceeds going to unemployed theatrical people. This includes musicians and stage hands as well as performers. The entire personnel, front, backstage and in the orchestra pit, are in this class, giving their services to help provide for the team days of depression.

As the master of ceremonies pointed out, stage people are always glad to give their services for the benefit of others and none give more willingly. In this venture at the Atlanta theater they are giving a benefit for themselves and it isn't at all out of place for the general public to reciprocate a trifle. Anyway, everyone connected with the performances is praying for better weather for the balance of the week with the consequent inevitable larger audiences. For the show deserves good box office support for a number of reasons.

It was announced Monday night that the program would be varied somewhat at succeeding performances, but each show would bring a good two hours of high class stage entertainment.

CHILDREN TESTIFY IN 'BABY KILLING'

Vincent Coll Unnerved at Sight of Boy Victim of Harlem Shooting.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(UP)—A 4-year-old boy and a 15-year-old girl, both bearing bullet scars, and a blood-stained, bullet-riddled baby carriage were brought into court today in the state's attempt to send Vincent Coll, New York gangster, to the electric chair for the Harlem "baby killing."

Florence D'Amico, dark-haired Italian girl, testified regarding events on the night that 5-year-old Michael Vanehall was slain. Coll is charged with the murder.

Curly-haired Sam Define, toddled up the courtroom aisle, escorted by a detective, leaning over the rail, was identified as one of the five children who were wounded July 28 by bullets from a gangster's automobile, and then burst into tears. Little Sam came up the aisle limped noticeably from a machine gun bullet wound in the leg. His scar was displayed for the jurors.

Coll, not as dapper as formerly, but still dressed flashily, almost started from his seat when the baby carriage was wheeled in.

Then, he turned toward away as the carriage was wheeled forward—almost over his toes. He seemed tense as Florence D'Amico began her testimony.

This seventh-grade schoolgirl, speaking good English, recited a simple tale of heroism. She told of the shooting, and clapped her hands together rapidly to explain how the carriage was wheeled forward—almost over his toes. He seemed tense as Florence D'Amico began her testimony.

Members of the fire department who acted as pallbearers were William Budde, Walter Fanning, Captain Grady Pierce, Jack Manning, C. F. Cooper and W. E. Jones. Other members of the department formed an honor guard. Grant Park Lodge 1004, F. O. S. A. M., had charge of the graveside service.

Captain Varnedoe, who was 70 years old and had been with the Atlanta department for 34 years, was widely known here as a capable and energetic fire fighter. He had participated in some of the biggest fires in the city, and had been injured many times in line of duty.

A native of Darien, he had lived here most of his life. In 1903 he was elected the first paid chief of the Valdosta fire department and served in that capacity until 1906, when he returned here. He was stationed at fire house No. 10.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Victor and L. C. Varnedoe, and three daughters, Mrs. S. A. Oldknow, Mrs. H. Pepper and Miss Nellie Varnedoe; a brother, Harry Varnedoe, and two grandchildren.

Of course, these principles are in direct conflict with those upon which the approach-forcing system is based, and the suggestion that he would incorporate the one-over-one system in the official system is practically tantamount to saying that he will equip a tandem bicycle with a high-powered engine.

The practical value of the approach-forcing system is the use of one of one and low response to the strong hands came on the fifth hand of the second rubber of the night, due to the fact that the strength of the combined hands held by Waldemar Von Zedtwitz and me was concealed, we defeated the contract of three diamonds, undertaken by Mr. Lenx, five tricks for a penalty of 1,800 points, the largest swing up to that point in the match.

The hand and the bidding which brought about this remarkable penalty were:

The opening lead was the 10 of Clubs and Mr. Lenx was able to make but 4 tricks on his contract to take 9. The second rubber of the night and the 65th of the match resulted in a gain for us of 2,580, much the largest rubber thus far.

It was a triumph for the principles of the approach-forcing system of bidding and the accuracy of the bidding was splendidly illustrated on the final hand of the rubber, which was:

AID GROUP SCORES BUILDING PROGRAM

Bond Issue's Value in Meeting Employment Problem Is Assailed by Garfield.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The president's unemployment organization today termed proposals for a huge bond issue for employment relief "unsound in principle."

Chairman Gifford made public without comment a report by the committee on public works programs headed by James R. Garfield, of Cleveland. This organization made a study of the entire federal building plan. It found:

That the 10-year building plan has been hastened and can be completed in about seven years;

That federal road appropriations should not be increased but officials should be allowed wide discretion in allocating the money where unemployment is worst;

That projects authorized by congress but for which appropriations have not been made cannot be speeded enough to be effective as a remedy in the present situation;

That proposals for the issuance of several billions of dollars' worth of bonds to be reloaned or given states and municipalities for public works are "unsound" in principle.

"Whatever may have been the causes of the present condition, the common sense remedy is to stop borrowing except to meet unavoidable deficits, balance our budgets and live within our income," the report said.

The committee expressed a belief that the government would have trouble marketing these securities satisfactorily along with the huge loans needed to make up deficits.

Appropriation of $200,000,000 by the federal government for continuance of veterans' adjusted compensation payments is merely a routine act of congress, it was explained Monday night by John M. Sloan Jr., director of the Veterans' bureau here, in comments upon President Hoover's signing of the bill. It is not to be construed as additional veterans' legislation, he said.

RAIL LABOR GIVEN PAY CUT WARNING
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Organized employees of a majority of the country's railroads were notified today that existing contracts will be revised as soon as possible to bring about a 15 per cent reduction in wages.

The notification was the first formal step toward providing for discussions of an alternative—a temporary, voluntary reduction of 10 per cent. It was not viewed as necessarily an antagonistic step toward the railroad brotherhoods.

With few exceptions, notable among them the Bangor & Aroostook, the Delaware & Hudson and the Western Maryland, the nation's railroads accepted the decision of the executives' committee and joined in today's action.

These three roads have not authorized the executives to act for them, and will negotiate independently.

21 C. C. NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED BY SENATE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed the nominations of B. H. Meyer and William E. Lee to continue as members of the interstate commerce commission.

Three nominations within the personnel of the navy were approved. They were: Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of engineering with rank of rear admiral; Orlin G. Murrin, to be judge advocate general with rank of rear admiral, and Edgar B. Larimer, chief of the bureau of ordnance, with rank of rear admiral.

New State Purchaser
R. F. Burch Jr., of Eastman, who became a state purchaser for the state of Georgia on January 1. In that capacity Burch will be charged with the duty of obtaining the lowest market prices for supplies required at the various institutions, and by the departments. He is a former commissioner of roads and revenues of Dodge country and twice a member of the general assembly.

18 GRANTED PERMITS TO SELL FIREWORKS
Eighteen special permits for World War veterans to sell fireworks during the Christmas holidays were issued to Fred R. Stokes, service officer for the Atlanta veterans, Monday by council.

Mr. Stokes also has arranged for the veterans who wish to sell the fireworks to get consignments from a local company, he said.

Veterans with peddling permits, which are issued without cost by the city, will be furnished fireworks by the company, Mr. Stokes said, by phoning him at Walnut 7531.

On the Air Today
Noble Sissle, who has won distinction as an orchestra leader, singer and composer both in this country and abroad, will be interviewed by Bob Taglin, Columbia writer, on the "Meet the Artist" broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network, via WGST, at 11:30 o'clock this afternoon, direct from the grill room of the Park Central hotel, New York.

Sissle will have his entire Park Central orchestra of 15 pieces with him. He will call upon his musicians to accompany him in his singing, and to illustrate various phases of negro music.

The band leader has played before the great and near-great of Paris, Piccadilly and Park Avenue prior to his current engagement. He has been presented with a set of cuff links by an Indian potentate, a cigar case by a British lord, a compliment by the Prince of Wales.

As one of the outstanding programs to be broadcast today over the WABC-Columbia network, Colin O'More, Columbia supervisor of musical programs, has arranged a group of Christmas selections emphasizing joyous, festive aspects of the holiday season for the Musical Americana program to be heard from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. A feature of the offering will be the Columbia mixed quartet singing "The Starke," a composition by Joseph W. Clokey, built upon an old English lyric found in a prayer book of the year 1600. "The Birthday of a King," the song of Neidinger's which has been heard in leading churches during Christmas season for many years will be Roger Kinn's solo contribution; while Julia Mahoney, soprano, will sing "Toyland."

Vincent Sorey and his orchestra will feature a program of Spanish music, classical and semi-classical love songs, and dances, during the Columbia Revue presentation from 11:30 to 12 o'clock.

An important selection of the program will be "Dance Espanole No. 2," by Maurice de Falla, Spanish composer.

With an eye on the Christmas holidays just ahead special sacred music has been incorporated in the Household program for today, 7 to 7:30 p. m., central standard time, over an NBC-WJTL network.

The program will open with the Household Singers and orchestra, under direction of Adolph Dumont, in "Silent Night," "Holy Night," "Adeste Fide

ATLANTA, GA., DEC. 22, 1931.

OUR AIR MAIL SERVICE.

The congressional delegations from North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida have united in the effort to prevent reduction of the appropriation for air mail service in this session.

Postmaster-General Walter E. Brown has announced that $600,000 will be lopped off the revenue being received from the government by the various air lines of the country, with a substantial part of this sum to be deducted from the air carriers of the south Atlantic states.

Officials of the lines operating between New York, Richmond, Charlotte, Atlanta and Miami have notified the government that it will be necessary for them to curtail their service if the cut is gone through with. The same will undoubtedly be true of the lines that converge in Atlanta from Chicago and Cincinnati.

Although other sections of the country had fully developed air mail, passenger and express service before the south, the routes through this section are of paramount importance, extending as they do into the nations of South America.

Already there are strong indications that the airplane will be a powerful influence in bringing about closer commercial relations with Latin America, and the progress of the United States back to normal will be accelerated materially if we can attract some of the trade of South America which has been going to Europe.

Before the coming of the airplane the time between the eastern ports of the United States and those of South America was so nearly the same as that between Europe and Latin America that the barriers of racial traits and language made difficult our efforts to compete with the exporters of the European nations.

Now the airplane is rapidly sweeping away these barriers by reducing the time of communication between the two American continents to a fraction of what it has been.

Unquestionably the expenses of the national government must be cut to the bone, but serious consideration should be given by the post-office department as to whether the lessening of the efficiency of our new contact with Latin America would not be poor economy.

The members of congress from the South Atlantic states have with commendable promptness presented a solid front against the elimination of any of the governmental support now being given southern air lines. To be able to present the strongest case possible they should have whole-hearted support, and our financial and commercial interests, through their respective organizations, should take action accordingly.

UP TO THE TAXPAYERS.

Commenting on a recent editorial in The Constitution, Editor J. W. McWhorter, of the Windsor News, in a communication published on this page, urges that the need for tax reforms be made the chief issue in next year's legislative races.

In presenting the injustice of the present ad valorem tax laws, Editor McWhorter tells of receiving an income of only $300 from a farm, representing an investment of $10,000—and yet he had to pay two-thirds of that beggarly revenue in state, county and school taxes. And his experience, he feels, is "the experience of tens of thousands of other Georgians who are trying as best they can to operate farms."

The writer agrees with the suggestion of the Georgia Real Estate Men's Association, that taxpayers' leagues be formed in every county in the state, so that the people will have a mouthpiece through which to voice their will in the matter of governmental expenses and tax burdens.

Given the proper interest by the taxpayers, sharp reductions in expenses would soon follow, with eliminations of sinecure political jobs, and a general improvement in governmental service at a much reduced cost.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.

It is to be hoped that the Fulton county commissioners will be able to grant the request of the city for labor and materials with which to widen Highland avenue from Harris street to the Southern railway bridge.

Because of its narrowness and heavy street car traffic during rush hours, conditions on this artery leading from the center of the city to Druid Hills are more congested than on any of the other chief thoroughfares of Atlanta.

At some points Highland is so narrow as to make it difficult for an automobile to pass a street car. As a result it is no unusual sight during rush hours to see automobiles backed up for blocks, moving forward at the same rate of progress as that of the street car at the head of the line.

The widening of this street would result in the lightening to a considerable extent of the load of traffic on Peachtree street and Ponce de Leon avenue, as much of it would then be diverted to Highland.

If the county board can see its way to granting the city's request, it will thereby assure a civic improvement that will be of direct benefit to a considerable portion of the residents of the city.

TEXAS PLANS REDUCTION.

The gratifying news comes from Texas that the cotton growers of that state are rapidly perfecting plans for the observance of the acreage reduction law, notwithstanding the fact that failure of sufficient pledges from other states may make the reduction law not binding.

The Dallas News reports that most of the cotton growers "expect to obey the law" and to attempt the production of feed and food crops, with live stock, on land formerly planted in cotton, and cites that directors of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association have called on their 40,000 members to "respect the legislation to the fullest extent and assist in seeing that its provisions are fully carried out."

The Memphis Commercial Appeal warns other southern states that they "must get behind the reduction program" unless they want to "go through the same suffering next year" as has been experienced during 1931.

During recent days world consumption of cotton has increased, continuing the Commercial Appeal, "and evidence has been furnished that production of cotton outside of the United States will be reduced. But the 7,000,000 bales that will be kept off the market, with the other carry-over, should be sufficient reminder to farmers that production next year must be of such curtailment be lost sight of, even should prices go much higher."

Unquestionably the expressions of these two leading southern newspapers reflect the public opinion of the cotton growing belt, and there is now every indication that marked reduction in acreage will be brought about through voluntary action.

Public sentiment on the subject is so aroused that but few farmers will dare to disregard it. Every community in the south knows just how much land each of its growers had in cotton this year, and any failure to co-operate on the part of any planter can be detected at once.

With public opinion sufficiently aroused, those who defy it will be spurned by their neighbors.

Whatever may be said of Representative McFadden's good taste in personally attacking the president, it can be said for him that he not only sticks to his guns, but rams home a new charge of high explosive.

Announcement that the new credit plan will enable the railroads to work out their problems will be welcome news to individuals and public institutions that are largely dependent upon the revenue from rail securities.

Atlantans after having been all fogged up—although not, it must be understood, in an alcoholic way—are promised a period of bright and snappy Christmas weather.

Madame Freya Tells Alphonsos.

Madame Freya, the famous Parisian soothsayer, had a little private talk with ex-King Alphonsos. This is nothing out of the ordinary. For Madame counts at least half a dozen crowned and formerly crowned heads among her clientele. There are two governments in Europe, in the Balkans to be a little more precise, which will never take a step of any importance without first sending an emissary to Paris for a consultation with Madame Freya.

It is not always a pleasant job to confer with that extraordinary clairvoyant, for she tells whatever she sees, without concealing the disagreeable aspects of her "visions." So this time, she told His Majesty of Spain that he might just as well settle down and stop bothering; he is not going to get his crown back. Alphonsos was cast down over this prophecy, but he took her advice and is now seriously planning to buy a house in France and set up a household.

I interviewed Madame Freya three times in consecutive years. Everything she predicted came true. This time she prophesied the withdrawal of French troops from the Rhine, financial and economic situation by early summer and, furthermore, something disagreeable about Mr. Hoover's chance for reelection.

WALTER A. HOLT (Army Serial No. 1000557), Private, Company A, 328th Infantry, 82d Division, American Expeditionary Force, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy near St. Juvin, France, April 22, 1918.

Private Holt volunteered to establish liaison with the unit on the right, although this mission required that he cross an area swept by heavy machine and mortar fire. Although fired upon at short range by enemy snipers, he successfully completed his mission and succeeded in capturing three German prisoners.

Later he exposed himself to heavy machine gun fire in order to assist in the rescue of the wounded. His heroic conduct was at all times exemplary.

Residence at enlistment, Rochelle, Georgia.

2 GANGSTERS TRACED IN DIAMOND SLAYING

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Two New York gangsters were in Albany last Friday when Jack "Legs" Diamond was murdered, police seeking Diamond's killers were informed.

The tip came from the New York police department on the police telephone system. It was to the effect that William Bailey, known to authorities as a Yannie Higgins mobster, and a man known only as McGivney were here Wednesday and Thursday, and took their automobiles out of a garage Thursday night. Diamond was shot and killed early Friday.

McGivney was traced to the city of Chicago, where he was arrested. He is now being held in the Chicago police station.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 21.—Start any kind of a conversation you want these days, and pretty soon you'll find yourself talking about Hollywood parties, arrivals, departures or something of the sort.

Billie Dove is getting ready to celebrate Christmas in a big way and take the train for New York that very night.

Bebe Daniels is thrilled that she will be home for Barbara Bebe's first Christmas. And may I add I heard a Hollywood floriad, bemoaning the fact that the last of the year should be "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," should take place this week—when he could have sold a lot of flowers anyhow?

Marlene Dietrich seems pleased to think that she has thought of a way to use a tiny tree as decoration on her table Christmas Day, and still adhere to that famous red and white color scheme of which she is so fond. She has planned a modernistic tree, made out of crystal leaves which will be lighted with red candles.

I interviewed Madame Freya three times in consecutive years. Everything she predicted came true. This time she prophesied the withdrawal of French troops from the Rhine, financial and economic situation by early summer and, furthermore, something disagreeable about Mr. Hoover's chance for reelection.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING.

Special observation of 5,000 school children showed that stammering occurred in about 4 per cent of the boys and 2 per cent of the girls. It is characteristic of the shy, sensitive type of child, rather than the child with aggressive traits. But the intelligence quotient as measured by the Stanford-Binet scale shows that the brightest children are as likely to develop this speech difficulty as the dullest.

Twice as many children begin to stammer after entering school as do before going to school.

We often draw an invidious conclusion from that, but I am of the opinion, based on many instances in which my advice has been sought, that naturally left-handed children who are compelled to train the right hand after they enter school are more likely to stammer than they are if permitted to use the left hand for writing and other fine work.

No stammerer or stuttermor is troubled when he sings familiar songs whose melody and words he knows well.

None is troubled when he whistles. Stammerers or stuttermors soliloquize (talk to themselves or when alone) and some read aloud when alone without difficulty.

Any stuttermor can easily learn to speak without the usual impediment by breaking his speech into syllables and accompanying each sound he utters with a voluntary movement of any kind, such as tapping foot, beating time with hand, or breathing or even just working one ankle or the toes of one foot in a regular way.

Stutterers or stammerers can almost invariably be cured of their impediment by a course of personally supervised exercises under a competent music master, or by a course of personally supervised exercises under a teacher of physical education—no more trainer.

Any one inclined to stammer should give a great deal when alone or with only sympathetic relatives or friends, and read real songs with the right words. Another good practice is to avoid or recite (if you can memorize) old poems, striving to do it well, and any sing-song effect, in the voice to suit the spirit of the piece, putting all the expression you can into it.

Not only stammerers but everybody should endeavor to modulate the voice in all conversation.

COUNTY BUDGETS SLASHED $30,859

detailed with court duties. It was the first move by Commissioner Walter Stewart that all salaries in this department, with the exception of those of Assistant Solicitors Ed A. Stegall and John Hudson, and Mr. Boykin, be cut 10 per cent, but on a substitute motion by Commissioner Paul Etheridge action was deferred.

Employees making $150 per month or less are not affected by the new 10 per cent cut.

The cuts, as compared with the budget of December 31, 1931, do not in all instances show a 10 per cent reduction in salaries. This is accounted for by the fact that during 1931 several departments have added employees who are not affected by the new 10 per cent cut.

The departmental budgets for deputies and clerks also of December 31 last year were: Clerk of superior court, $10,250 per month; ordinary, $1,825 per month; solicitor of criminal court, $1,825 per month; sheriff, $4,808.32 per month; tax collector, $4,808.32 per month; and tax recorder, $4,808.32 per month.

The salary schedule bringing a reduction in the budget to the following figures were approved Monday as follows: Clerk of superior court, $9,625 per month; solicitor of criminal court, $1,740.99; sheriff, $7,202.50; tax collector, $4,335.83; and tax recorder, $4,335.83.

The salary schedule already ordered for Boykin's department will amount to approximately $377.50 per month, or $4,500 per year. This figure, if approved, would bring the total savings in the departmental budget to $30,859, and bring the final economy effected to $80,380.80.

ry's eyes were burned and physicians feared he might never see again.

Corbett, uninjured, searched the vicinity for dynamite. He found no trace of any person who might have set off the explosion. He found, however, that he found wires leading from the dynamite to a switch hidden in the swamp near by.

Three sticks of dynamite did not explode. Sheriff White said if they had gone off the whole party undoubtedly would have been killed. He could not say accurately how many sticks exploded but estimated about five.

Other officers were sent to the scene of the explosion as soon as it was reported. They found a trail that might lead from the switch.

The raiding party left here about 9:30 a. m. for the point where the dynamite was set off. They found a swamp about five miles from here, on a tip whose source they would not reveal. Word of the blast reached the city about 10:30 a. m.

The present income tax is unfair and vicious. It is a class tax. Two per cent of the people pay all of it, which means that 120 million people do not pay a cent.

ATLANTA WILL NEED 117,000 CARS IN 1932

Unusual Potential Motor Car Market To Be Shown Of- ficials in Survey.

The Atlanta area will be in the market for the unprecedented purchase of 117,000 new automobiles in 1932 because of reduced buying in the past two years, according to a survey which will be presented to Detroit automobile officials in Atlanta Tuesday.

M. T. Powers, sales executive of the Hudson Motor Car Company, will head a Detroit party which will confer with J. W. Goldsmith and C. H. Becker, of the Goldsmith-Becker Company, distributors of Hudson and Essex cars, and with the heads of local sales organizations in their territory. Representatives of approximately six selling organizations will attend the meeting and be given a private preview of the new 1932 Hudson and Essex models.

"Our surveys," said Mr. Powers, in announcing the meeting, "show that for the past two years owners have purchased new automobiles only when absolutely necessary. Normal purchases of new cars in this territory usually approximate 70,200 each year. However, approximately only 55,400 cars were bought during 1930 and 1931, leaving a deficiency of approximately 46,800 cars for these two years. This deficiency, plus normal purchases, makes an unprecedented potential market for the sale of approximately 117,000 new automobiles in this territory in 1932."

"This necessary buying of new automobiles during the coming year should go far toward speeding up business in all lines. Because of startling improvements in the new 1932 models which will be announced on January 9, the opening day of the annual New York automobile show, Hudson and Essex dealers are confident that they will get an unusually high percentage of next year's automobile business in this territory."

In addition to local dealers, heads of approximately three sales organizations in Montgomery and Birmingham will attend the meeting. The meeting here will be one of a series of similar conferences being held throughout the country.

PHYSICIAN JAILED ON DOPE CHARGE

Following a long period of surveillance, city detectives and federal agents Monday arrested Dr. Charles E. Wingfield, a negro physician, of 539 Auburn avenue, in connection with alleged narcotic activities. The arrest of the doctor followed action of officers in taking into custody a negro messenger boy named A. C. Crisp, who is alleged to have been employed by the physician to deliver narcotics to a large trade.

Both Wingfield and the messenger boy were held at police headquarters Monday night, where federal agents questioned them in connection with other members of an alleged "dope ring."

Boy Scouts To Aid Police in Handling Christmas Crowds

The Boy Scouts of the Atlanta Council 1 will assist the police this Christmas in handling the crowds beginning Tuesday morning and continuing through Thursday.

All Boy Scouts are urged to report in complete uniform to police headquarters at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning for instructions and assignment to duty. They are to bring with them a rope to help handle crowds and will remain on duty all day, but will have a relief from time to time.

Scouts are requested to report each morning at 10 o'clock at the police station for three days' service in co-operation with the Atlanta police.

FULTON TAX LIMIT EXTENDED 10 DAYS

No fl. fa. costs will be assessed on delinquent taxpayers of Fulton county provided they make their payments by the close of the year, it was voted Monday by the Fulton county commission on request of W. S. Richardson, tax collector. Interest at 7 per cent, from December 20, when the books close, will be charged.

During the day Mr. Richardson paid into the county treasury a check for $800,000, part of the taxes already collected. His office Monday was still swamped with letters bearing checks which were posted on Saturday. So much mail has accumulated that it will take ten days to sort and file it, Richardson said. Richardson asked the commission to take action on a check from the Georgia Power Company, which was refused by the board Friday because it was for 70 per cent of the company's city assessment when, in the past, the power company had paid the full 100 per cent assessment. The difference was more than $8,000. The matter was referred to the legal department for an opinion.

Chairman Walter C. Hendrix announced that the county Monday forwarded to New York a check for $1,200,000 through the First National bank to pay the first installment on a $2,000,000 loan of the county, made last March from the W. O. Gay Company. The loan was used to clean up the then current liabilities of the county, he said.

COUNTY IS BEATEN IN COURT ACTION

The county lost a legal transaction Monday and the city won one in Fulton superior court. The county lost a mandamus action to prevent payment of $800 by S. M. Davis, a bondsman, $800. The city's zoning law was upheld when J. Don Amazon, sculptor, lost the right to maintain a studio in a residential district. Davis sought the return of $800 which was a bond forfeited by a prisoner whose bond he had signed, but it was shown that Davis later caught the prisoner and turned him over to the authorities. It was shown that an act of the legislature was put through at the last session, requiring the county to pay the money back. The case was heard before Judge E. D. Thomas.

Amazon, of 1074 Ponce-de-Leon avenue, sought an injunction against the city of Atlanta, which fined him for maintaining a studio at his home. It was shown that he had been fined $100 in recorder's court. He then obtained a temporary injunction against the police, but Monday this temporary injunction was dismissed by Judge Virgil B. Moore and the city zoning ordinance upheld.

The Children Come Home

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN.

INSTALLMENT II.

Now they had not even answered her Christmas invitation. It was their most flagrant piece of neglect, and even yet she could not believe in it.

She drew a deep sigh and looked at her watch. A few minutes past seven. They would come. But if they were coming they ought to be here now.

Feeling Hills, the nearest railroad station, on the six-forty-five train, and it would take them 15 or 20 minutes to get out to the house in a cab.

A taxicab coming up the drive, crunching the fresh snow. Lights and movement at the entrance of the house. The young voices. The next moment she was at the double front doors, had flung them open, and stood back against the brilliant lights of the wide hall, gazing at the children.

Shaken and ecstatic, as they ran up the steps leading to the veranda. For an instant June's cold young cheek rested against hers, then Jim's, followed by what he called "a bear hug."

The next moment the big hall seemed full of strangers. But there were only four other children and Jim—two girls and two young men.

Conquering her surprise, Mrs. Leonard took in the newcomers with a keen but hospitable glance as she shook hands with them. The two girls were attractive young things, fur coated, cloche hatted, with pretty painted little faces. Their gay chatter filled the quiet house. The young men were better eyed and extremely casual of manner. Not college types, these, June had presented them in her usual offhand fashion.

"You don't mind our bringing the family," she airily told her mother.

Pearl and Pat and Joe and Charlie and Jim and I all have studios in the same building, so we practically live together."

Mrs. Leonard murmured dutifully that she was delighted. She had plenty of room for the additional guests in the big old house, and she could have led a regiment with the provisions in her storeroom. The two strange girls seemed to be sisters, named Seymour.

"Take your friends to their rooms at once," she told June. "Put Miss Seymour and her sister in Aunt Harriet's old room. Jim, put Mr. Chase and Mr. Dixon in the room connecting with yours. I think everything is in order in both rooms, but I'll send Maggie up to make sure. And, of course, your own rooms," she spoke to the twins jointly, "are ready, and fires are lit in both of them."

"Great," June looked at her apologetically. "It was all wrong not to answer your letter, mother, but we were frightfully busy. And, of course, you knew we'd come."

For some reason that last remark, Mrs. Leonard looked at her heartily, too. "Of course," if only it could be, would be, a case "of course!" "What time's dinner?" June added. "Eight o'clock."

"Fine." This time it was Jim who spoke. "That'll give us half an hour to dress, and time for a cocktail before dinner."

"Cocktails?" Mrs. Leonard looked blank. "I'm awfully sorry, dear, but I'm afraid I haven't."

"You've got plenty of ice, haven't you?"

"Of course."

"Then have a bowl of it cracked. I'll do the rest."

Their guests followed Jim and June upstairs in a chattering group.

June called softly to her mother. "Bob's coming in after dinner, mother, for coffee. Couldn't get away for dinner itself. Family party."

Mrs. Leonard went to the kitchen and informed the cook that there would be eight at dinner instead of three. She also ordered the cracked ice and wine glasses.

"Have me anything in the nature of a cocktail shaker," she dubiously asked Maggie, the waitress. Maggie thought they had, and produced something that might do. Mrs. Leonard went back to her big living room, Jim and June had come, and had taken it for granted that she knew they would come. She kept her thought on that, and smiled blissfully at the dancing flames.

The children and their guests came downstairs with a rush. They crowded into the living room looking like a reunion of all the ill-fated Christmas trees along the country roads.

The Seymour sisters were the most resplendent human objects Mrs. Leonard had ever seen off the stage, and June's effect was almost equally flamboyant. Their shoulder straps were slender sprays of flowers. Ropes of near pearls and brilliant hangings upon their breasts, jeweled crescents were in some way clamped to the sides of their blond bobbed heads.

There was little but the floral shoulder straps above their waists. Their skirts were iridescent affairs of lace and chiffon. The young men, including Jim, were fashion plates of gilded youth in formal evening dress.

Mrs. Leonard, in her quiet lavender evening gown, looked like a dove among tropical birds. Obviously the guests felt a slight constraint at sight of her, but she beckoned them to the fire with a welcoming smile.

Only the younger Seymour sister responded. The others grouped themselves around Jim, who was mixing cocktails at a side table. Looking at them closely, as they stood together, Faith took in more fully the characteristics of the little group. Pearl Seymour was obviously the leader of the bunch—good-humored, and dominating. The younger sister was speaking now and her hostess turned to her with quick interest.

"It's sure a Christmas here," the girl said dreamily, looking at the beautifully decorated tree in a corner of the living room, and the red ribboned holly wreaths over the great mantel. She added expansively, "I have never been in a house like this before."

"I hope you like it," her hostess smiled.

The words were spoken with such utter sincerity that Faith was touched. "I love it, myself," she said gently. "You see, I was born here, and my father and mother were born here before me, as well as my grandparents. I spent my married life here and my children were born here, too—so the old house is full of memories."

Her companion nodded. "Just like in a story. If I had a house like this I'd never go out of it," she firmly announced.

Mrs. Leonard laughed. "I'm afraid you'd have a dull time in that case," she said, and added with an unconscious sigh, "but I wish my son and daughter felt more as you do."

Jim was preparing his libations to an accompaniment of professional patter, evidently in imitation of some favorite bartender known to "the bunch." Faith listened to the laughter which greeted his efforts. She also heard the older Seymour girl's whisper to June.

"Why didn't you put us wise to your mother? Why didn't you say she was a highbrow and a society dame?"

At the dinner table she learned more about her guests. Both girls, the talk revealed, were well known and popular dancers in a famous uptown night club. She gathered that they had found it hard to get away from their exciting duties.

"Bolton passed out at the first yip of it," Pearl testified. "I had to give Pat a heart attack before he'd let us off."

So "Pat" was the younger sister. "Pearl and Pat Seymour!" Faith now remembered having seen their names on theater billboards and in the newspapers.

"Bolton's just a big noise," young Chase was saying. "You two girls could make him sit up and beg, if you had the nerve."

DR. McGEACHY LEADS CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

Other Officers Chosen, Resolutions Adopted at Monday Meeting.

Officers for 1932 were elected, and various resolutions were adopted at the meeting of the Christian Council Monday noon at Rich's tea room.

Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Decatur Presbyterian church, was elected president; Dr. R. L. Russell, presiding elder of the Atlanta district of the Methodist church, vice president, and M. E. Coleman, a layman, treasurer. Resolutions thanking Dr. Luther Rice, Christian Science president, for his services during the year were adopted.

It was announced that Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, would not come to Atlanta to conduct a revival under the auspices of the churches. This failure was due to a delayed delivery of mail, the letter of invitation from Atlanta reaching the evangelist after he had made other plans.

It was decided to hold future meetings on the first Monday of the month, coincident with the meetings of the Evangelical Association, the council's meeting following at 12:15 o'clock. A communication from the Junior League, asking the churches for donations of clothing for the needy, was read.

Plans were made for the observance of Temperance Sunday on January 17. Rev. Richard Huston's suggestions that stickers bearing Scriptural quotations against liquor be printed and distributed was adopted.

The Bible has 65 verses which prove that God is a prohibitionist," Mr. Huston said.

J. W. Bachman, chairman of the unemployment committee, reported that the situation was no better, in fact, was worse. His report commended the movement by the city to put public work projects under way. Josiah P. Rose, collector of internal revenue, suggested that the council ask the treasury department at Washington to expedite the letting of the new postoffice contract. The secretary was instructed to write a letter to this effect to Washington.

Club Women Aid In Spreading Cheer Among Veterans

Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs will have a large part in the program to bring the spirit of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" to the veterans at U. S. Hospital No. 48 during the Christmas holidays, according to Mrs. H. R. Nicholas, chairman in charge of the work.

Mrs. Nicholas announced that it was planned to have a living Christmas tree at the bedside of every man in the hospital Christmas Day. The garden clubs of Atlanta are furnishing decorations for the affair. "Many people and business firms have donated to the cause," says Mrs. Nicholas, "and indications are that the Christmas dinner at the hospital will be well supplied with delicacies such as cakes and candy."

DEATH OF DR. SMALL MOURNED BY VETERANS

Members of Lee-Roosevelt Camp No. 6, department of Georgia, United Spanish-American War Veterans, in a resolution drawn up in a regular meeting of the organization, extend sympathy to the family of their late comrade, Samuel W. Small.

Samuel Small was a member of the Lee-Roosevelt camp and his death was keenly felt by all members. The resolution committee was composed of B. T. McHenry, George H. Fry, H. P. Jack, W. N. Harrell and Ralph Steckel.

NEW PLAN OFFERS RAILROAD RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—

Plain-spoken James Couzens, of Michigan, today put forward a new plan for helping the railroads and asked that President Hoover's ideas for emergency aid to the carriers be permanently sidetracked.

The chief executive has urged both senate and house leaders to hurry through his proposal for a $500,000,000 reconstruction corporation, pointing out it would allow emergency loans to the harassed railroads.

The Michigan senator disagreed sharply with the administration's characteristic vigor he waved a copy of the transportation act of 1920 before members of a subcommittee of the senate banking committee as he urged that the law be re-enacted.

That statute, which helped the roads out of their post-war difficulties, provided for loans from the treasury to the lines on the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

White House Conference.

Earlier in the day, President Hoover had called members of the senate finance and banking committees to the White House to urge again the necessity for quick passage of the reconstruction corporation measure, designed to provide a reserve of fluid credit for use where needed.

He was assured that the bill would receive quick consideration after the holiday recess.

Whether the Couzens proposals might mean delay on the corporation measure was not immediately apparent, although there was a suggestion that the 1920 transportation law be written into it.

The transportation statute would have to be re-enacted because it included a two-year time limit for filing loan applications. Senator Couzens pointed out that $314,000,000 still remains in the revolving fund created under the 1920 act and that would become available for loans to the railroads.

His suggestion came as Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, had said there was material need for the reconstruction measure and had described the plight of the carriers.

The railway executive said the carriers have "more than a billion dollars of securities coming due in the next three years."

His own company, he said, has $43,000,000 worth maturing next year. To go into the open market for the money under present conditions, he continued, would involve a "regrettable burden on the cost of transportation" owing to high interest rates.

NYE REPORT HITS CAMPAIGN COSTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—

Congress was asked today to put definite and stringent limits on the campaign expenditures of presidential and congressional candidates.

Reporting an expenditure of $5,505,712 in the 1920 senatorial contests, the senate's special campaign funds investigating committee termed the sum "excessive" and introduced a comprehensive measure for future restrictions.

Candidates would be made responsible for all funds spent in their behalf by either agents or committees. Presidential candidates would be limited to $250,000 in the nomination contest and $50,000 in the election. Maximum limits of $50,000 each for senatorial primary and election contests and of $10,000 each for house primary and election campaigns would be imposed.

A further restriction within this maximum would be imposed on senatorial candidates. It would limit their expenditures to two cents "for every vote cast for all candidates for the office in question in the last preceding election," and four cents a vote for candidates for the house.

The Steiwer committee reported that in the 1928 campaign more than $9,000,000 was spent for the Hoover election drive and more than $7,000,000 for the Smith contest. It also set the nominating contest expenses of the Hoover forces at $395,254 and of the Smith pre-convention drive at $152,622.

Disbarment from office and elimination of names from the ballot were proposed in the legislation as penalties for violation of the campaign limits together with fines and prison sentences.

A friendly Christmas suggestion from Winston-Salem

ONE POUND OF PRINCE ALBERT IN CRYSTAL GLASS HUMIDOR

CARTON CONTAINING 10 PACKAGES OF 20 CAMELS EACH

PRINCE ALBERT IN ONE-POUND HUMIDOR TIN

CARTON CONTAINING 4 PACKAGES OF 50 CAMELS EACH

IT IS NOT the cost of the gift, but the thought that lies behind the giving that warms the cockles of the heart on Christmas morning.

Then, instead of some short-lived trinket, how much nicer to give something that will bring solace and delight for many days after the Christmas tree is gone; until the New Year is on its way.

For the cigarette smoker, man or woman, of course give Camels. A blend of choice Turkish and mild, sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos, they are kept fresh and prime by the Camel Humidor Pack, with their natural moisture unimpaired by parching or toasting.

In appropriate holiday wrapping, Camels come both in attractive Christmas cartons containing ten packages of twenty and in cartons containing four boxes of fifty each.

For the man who smokes a pipe, we suggest either a pound tin or one of those crystal glass humidors of good old PRINCE ALBERT. Here is a present that goes straight as a Christmas carol to a man's heart; P. A., the best loved pipe tobacco in the world, all dressed for the occasion in bright Christmas costume.

What gift can you think of that will be more welcome or give more genuine pleasure and satisfaction?

Don't you hope someone will think of such a friendly gift for you?

We wish you Merry Christmas!

PACKING HOUSES BALK AT CHAIN STORE PROBE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—In the midst of its other troubles, the senate was told today by the federal trade commission that four big packing firms refuse to give information in a chain store investigation.

The inquiry is under a senate resolution in 1928 ordering the commission to find out if chain operations violate anti-trust laws and if additional legislation is needed to regulate them.

Naming Armour & Co., Swift & Co., the Cudahy Packing Co. and Libby, McNeill & Libby as the reticent firms, the commission made no recommendations and left the next move to the senate.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. L. A. WILSON

Rites at 11 O'clock This Morning Planned for Widely Known Atlantan.

Funeral services of Mrs. Louisa Ann Wilson, 85 years old, and a well-known resident of Atlanta for many years, will be held at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. D. Seaborn, at 427 Candler street, N. E., Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson died Sunday night after a long illness.

Dr. Samuel T. Senter, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate at the services. Grandchildren will act as pallbearers. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson was the wife of John Alexander Wilson, who died in 1915. Before her marriage she was Miss Louisa Ann Burns. After her marriage she moved to Louisville, Ky., coming here 24 years later.

Mrs. Wilson is survived by three children, 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Her children are Mrs. Seaborn, A. A. Wilson and O. W. Wilson, all of Atlanta. Her grandchildren are Miss Louise Seaborn, M. D. Seaborn Jr., R. D. Seaborn, L. A. Wilson, A. S. Wilson, O. W. Wilson Jr., Frank Wilson, Lawrence Wilson and Marjorie Wilson, all of Atlanta.

John A. Wilson, Philadelphia; Oliver Wilson, New York; Mrs. T. J. Stith and Miss Laurie Harper, of Columbus, Kan., and Richard and Alpheus Harper, of Benton Harbor, Mich.

MRS. ROBERT YOUNG TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Young, 62, wife of Brigadier Robert Young, of the Salvation Army, who died Sunday afternoon at a private hospital, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Peachtree Chapel, 840 Peachtree street, with Commander Alexander M. Damon officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Members of the Army will act as pallbearers.

Mrs. Young, a native of England, had been engaged in Salvation Army work for many years. She came to the United States as a girl and married Brigadier Young in 1898. Though she held no position of her own, her rank was the same as her husband's.

Surviving Mrs. Young, besides her husband, are two daughters, Miss Allene Young, with the Army in New York city, and Miss Evelyn Young, a student at the Army training school here.

MRS. ETHERIDGE IS LAID TO REST

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank S. Etheridge, 74, wife of Frank S. Etheridge, prominent cotton mill executive and banker, were held Monday morning at Spring Hill. Mrs. Etheridge, a semi-invalid for several years, died Saturday at the residence, 1380 Fairview road.

The rites were conducted by Dr. Ryland Knight, pastor of the Second Baptist church, of which Mrs. Etheridge had been a devoted member since coming here from Jackson 15 years ago. Interment took place at Jackson Monday afternoon.

A daughter of the late Dr. Thomas Lamar, of America, Mrs. Etheridge was a member of a well known Georgia family, and was prominent in club work before moving here. Her husband is secretary and treasurer of the Social Circle cotton mills and a past president of the Atlanta Trust Company.

Grudge Against Father Is Clue In Search for Missing Daughter

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A possible clue to the abduction of 8-year-old Marian McLean from her home here was discovered by police today in the alleged grudge of a jealous husband against the child's father.

After four days of intensive searching, police learned from Marian's estranged parents that she might have been kidnapped for revenge by a man whose wife was alleged to have been friendly with the father, Joseph McLean, who has been seeking employment in Phoenix, Ariz.

Detectives were more inclined, however, to retain the original theory that a degenerate man induced the child to accompany him, and then possibly attacked and killed her.

The revenge theory was based on information from Mrs. McLean that an unidentified man last October claimed his wife had been associating with McLean. Marian's mother said she wrote to her husband then that she had met her death at the hands of her abductor.

Four thousand Cincinnati Boy Scouts today volunteered to join in the search for the missing girl, but as the hours went by with no definite leads on her whereabouts officers grew more and more convinced that she had met her death at the hands of her abductor.

Lillian Mae Patterns

CUNNING PARTY FROCK. PATTERN 2119.

Anyone could make this darling dress in a few hours, and there may be bits of fabric in the house that will go together nicely, since the yoke and hem are contrasting. The dress is gathered for grace and extra fullness. Two colors, or plain and printed silk, for cotton will be most effective. Bloomers are included.

Pattern 2119 is obtainable only in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8. Size 4 requires 1 yard plain and 1 5-8 yards contrasting 35-inch fabric.

Transfer Pattern 704, which consists of a bunny and a dog, which may be made of toweling and stuffed, is 15 cents additional.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Send for the Winter Catalog. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas, and kiddie's clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns. Price of catalog, 15 cents.

Christmas time is giving time. It is the season of the year when we forget ourselves and plan for others. It is that season when we make long lists of our loved ones and friends and then take that list shopping. To find just the right card or gift we search the shops to find just the thing that will please each individual the most. Won't you pause a moment in your shopping and look over your list carefully and see if there isn't just one tiny little place where you can add the Penny Club?

There are thousands this year who for the first time in their lives are unable to shop. They have probably dreamed of their lists made in former years and of the wonderful shopping trips that they used to make to the stores—but this year they have no money—they have no food to eat even if they can't even go shopping for food.

If you will put the Penny Club on your Christmas list we will be glad to provide jobs for some of these men with families who have no food. Your money will go directly toward providing jobs for the unemployed if given to the Penny Club. The joy that a job will give the unemployed will be greater than the joy derived from any gift that you can give any one. It will last through the winter and will not only bring joy to the man who is given employment but to his family who is looking to him to provide the necessities of life for them. There are additional men who have been investigated and jobs have been provided—we can put additional men to work if you will put the Penny Club on your Christmas shopping list. Can you think of a gift that will bring more material joy and comfort?

A gift to the Penny Club will only cost 3 cents a day—21 cents a week—90 cents a month—or $1.80 for two months. Won't you write a check—dated December 25, made payable to the Penny Club and put it on your Christmas tree as a gift for Atlanta's unemployed?

FORMER BANK OFFICIAL CONFESSES FORGERY

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dennington Yancey, 45 years old, claiming to be a former Shreveport, La., bank official, was arrested here today for passing a forged check of $37 at Elkhart, Ind., last week. Yancey told police of check passing in several states over a period of six years. He did not estimate the total amount of his forgeries but said the checks ranged from $5 to $1,000.

Christmas 'Bomb' Sent To Marian Davies' Home

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Dec. 21.—(UP)—A smoking Christmas package, believed to have contained a bomb, was received today at the home of Marian Davies, motion picture actress. In her absence it was accepted by the butler, who noted it smoking and summoned police.

Chief of Police Clarence Webb, father-in-law of Rudy Vallee, placed it far out on the beach, and directed all to withdraw to a safe distance. From one end of the package protruded what appeared to be an ordinary door key. It was addressed by typewriter, "Personal to Marian Davies."

FLIP GIVES HIS MASTER A SURPRISE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Be suspicious if you must. But try at first a little trust.

—Old Mother Nature.

Even Uncle Billy Possum had such a night been seen in the Green Forest. There was Flip the Terrier dancing about and on his back was Runt, who had been the smallest of Uncle Billy's 12 children. Not only was Runt on Flip's back but he had climbed there of his own accord and he seemed to be enjoying that wild ride. Runt's brothers and sisters from their safe perches in trees that he climbed looked on pop-eyed astonishment. There was Runt actually doing one of the things he had boasted of having done, a thing they hadn't believed he or any other Possum would dare do.

Suddenly Flip remembered his master. He stopped and turned his head to look back at Runt clinging to his back. Then Flip began to shake himself. My, my, how he did shake! Runt did his best to hold on, but Flip's hair was short and there was little to cling to. At the fourth hard shake Runt fell off. Instantly Flip was standing over him, his tail still wagging. Before Runt could make up his mind what to do next, Flip seized him in his mouth. It was the first time Flip ever had done this and it startled Runt. However, Flip was holding him very gently though firmly, and Runt was wise enough not to struggle but to lie limply as he did when pretending to be dead.

Flip lifted him gently and turned to go back and meet his master. It was just then that Farmer Brown's Boy appeared in sight. His eyes opened wide in surprise as Flip came to him and proudly laid Runt at his feet.

He stooped and patted Flip on the head and Flip licked his hand, wagged his stump of a tail and began to bark. "Quiet!" commanded his master and, walking over to an old stump, sat down still holding Runt.

The other still was limpy, but his eyes were open and very bright those small eyes were. There was no fear in them. Meanwhile Runt's brothers and sisters were looking on with almost unbelieving eyes. There was their brother in the hands of this giant and seemingly unafraid. They wondered what it meant and what would happen next and if he would be carried back to that comfortable prison from which he had made his escape. And then he remembered something. He remembered that always Farmer Brown's Boy had had something good to eat in one of his pockets. But that was when Farmer Brown's Boy used to take him out of his cage to play with him. Would there be anything in one of those pockets now? "The way to find out is to look," thought Runt and stopped scratching his ear.

The next story: "Runt Arouses Envy." (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

LYONS ASKED TO FORM AUSTRALIAN CABINET

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 21.—(AP)—J. A. Lyons, leader of the United Australia party, was summoned by Governor-General Sir Isaac Isaacs today to form a cabinet at Canberra in which Lyons would be prime minister.

This action followed the resignation of Prime Minister James Scullin, whose labor government was defeated in Saturday's election.

The resignation of the Scullin ministry was submitted to the governor-general, but Mr. Scullin was expected to be asked to carry on his duties until after the holidays. Mr. Lyons is expected to arrive at Canberra, the capital, Thursday.

LEAVENWORTH GUARD KILLS SELF BY GAS

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Dec. 21.—(AP)—William Suderkrup, 53, veteran guard at the Leavenworth federal penitentiary, committed suicide by breathing automobile exhaust fumes in the garage at his home here yesterday afternoon.

His act was attributed today to ill health that had kept him off duty for the three weeks prior to the escape of seven desperate convicts a week ago last Friday. Suderkrup returned to work after the escape.

Prison officials said he was not questioned in the investigation into the manner in which firearms used in the unsuccessful escape were smuggled into the prison and added that he was not suspected. He had been a guard since 1908 and was in charge of the receiving and discharging office.

Mrs. White Weds John Boyd At Six O'Clock Home Ceremony

Elegant simplicity marked the marriage of Mrs. Winnie Ream White and John Boyd, which was solemnized last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the former on Forrest road. Rev. D. W. Williams, of the Reformed Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a number of close friends and relatives, the service being preceded by an appropriate musical program given by Mrs. W. B. Griffith, harpist; Mrs. Winifred Bird Hopkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jennings.

The rites were read in the drawing room, which was attractively decorated with smilax, palms, foliage plants and long-stemmed pink roses. Pink and green were also carried out in the decoration of the reception rooms with an attractive arrangement of pink roses. In the dining room a color motif of red and green prevailed with red roses and poinsettias used on the table and buffet.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of blue satin made along straight simple lines, and she carried a bouquet of Tulleman roses and valley lilies. The bride's gown was fashioned of black lace veiling white satin and she wore a shoulder bouquet of red roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Hugh Ellsworth, of Toledo, Ohio, sister of the bride, was costumed in blue lace fashioned over satin to match and she wore a nosegay formed of various-colored flowers.

The ceremony was followed by a buffet supper and reception at which the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Ellsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Quillian, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bedard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Porter and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rauschenburg.

Mr. Boyd and his bride left in the late evening for a motor trip to Miami, Fla., and upon their return will

Mrs. Malcolm Fleming poured tea and assisted in entertaining was Mrs. William Adkins, mother of Mrs. Sharp. The guests included members of the Debutantes' Club.

Mrs. Wall Hostess.

Mrs. Mahelle S. Wall was hostess at a musical and tea Sunday at her home on West Peachtree street, honoring Franciszek Zachara, noted Polish pianist, and Miss Ardis Colby, gifted young pianist who has just returned from European tour. Red roses were combined with holly wreaths, mistletoe and Christmas greens in artistic arrangement to give an air of holiday gaiety to the occasion. A program was rendered during the afternoon by a group of talented Atlantans. Mr. Zachara brilliantly played piano selections and Miss Ardis Colby, a former pupil of Mrs. Wall, was heard in a group of piano numbers. Mrs. Harold Coolidge sang accompanied at the piano by Joseph Hagan, who also played the accompaniment for the beautiful dance interpretation of Aida by Miss Ernestine Hirsch. Miss Natalie Hammond gave clever readings from "Macaroni Ballads," by Daley.

The guest book was presided over by Miss Sybilla Pringle. This is the first of a series of informal teas at which Mrs. Wall will be hostess on Sunday afternoons, the date of the next tea to be announced later.

Felmet—Aaron.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 21.—The wedding plans of Miss Lucile Felmet, popular bride-elect, who will wed Dave Ernest Aaron, of Atlanta and Mineral Bluff, Ga., have been announced. The ceremony will take place at high noon Tuesday at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Felmet, at 332 Bernard avenue. Woodrow, with the Rev. J. G. Huggins Jr., pastor of the Asbury Memorial church, officiating.

Miss Felmet will be given in marriage by her father, C. L. Felmet, before an assemblage of relatives and a few intimate friends. The wedding music will be provided by two of the bride-elect's cousins, Miss Frances Felmet, who will play the violin, and Miss Virginia Beale, who will play the piano. Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Felmet will give a wedding breakfast. The couple will leave for a wedding trip immediately afterwards and will be at home after January 1 at 844 Morningside drive, N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

BY MRS. HENRY W. GRADY JR.

Plans for making Christmas a happy season among those less fortunate than ourselves are well under way in the Junior League. An expression of grateful appreciation is due the Junior League marionette committee who have donated the proceeds from several performances and this sum, together with the generosity of Arthur Bird and Rogers, Inc., have made possible the filling of the 60 Christmas baskets. Mrs. E. M. Cole Jr., chairman of the Christmas baskets committee, and her assistants, Mrs. William Parker Jr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, are transforming by means of red paper, gay red ribbons and baskets, into a cornucopia heaped high with good things for a hungry family.

What housekeeper would not be delighted to receive for Christmas Day any of the following: 12 pounds flour, 2 pounds boiling bacon, 1 pound coffee, 5 pounds sugar, 8 pounds meal, 1 pound nuts, pounds candy, 2 loaves bread, 4 cans tomatoes, 2 cans corn, 3 large cans milk, 2 pounds dried peaches, 2 cans salmon, rice and irish potatoes, 5 pounds sweet potatoes, a 4-pound picnic ham, oranges and apples. Besides the supplies contained in the basket there will also be toys and a stocking for the younger members of the family, and, best of all, a bit of fuel for fires complete this Christmas gift.

A large number of Junior League girls are helping Mrs. Cole in delivering the baskets and will meet at her home at 1884 Antioch road between 12 and 9:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning, December 23. The first 27 of these baskets will be delivered to the destitute families of children who have undergone treatment in the Henrietta Eggleston hospital at one time or another. The recipients of the rest of the baskets have been investigated by the Family Welfare Society and are of the unemployed who have been forced for the first time to ask for assistance.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive," and Junior Leaguers returning home after an insight into the realized condition of the children who are presented on Christmas day for any happiness brought to others at the yuletide season.

Out at the Henrietta Eggleston hospital the Junior League wars will be filled with cheer on Christmas morning. On every little bed will hang a bright red tarleton stocking and as tiny hands delve down towards the top exciting things will come to light. Little automobiles and aeroplanes, dolls, watches, tea sets, beloved dextro-pops, games, horns and noisemakers of all kinds will be exhibited. The ones too kind to be interested in the stockings will look at the beautiful Christmas trees and listen to it play "Silent Night, Holy Night," as it revolves on its music-box base. The older children will sing this well-known song until quiet is once more restored to the ward. The Junior League hospital committee, this year under Mrs. William Warren Jr., made and filled for every bed in the entire hospital. The Christmas tree, a gift from the Junior League, is used again each year to charm the hearts of the children. The Junior League is wishing all the patients in the hospital and all the friends of our organization a merry Christmas and a happy New Year!

Culbertson on Contract

Reading the Language of Bids.

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Successful play of Contract Bridge absolutely demands a sound system of bidding. Spectacular results cause comment at the bridge table, but the brilliant player, in addition to his brilliancy, should also be a good partner to be a winning player. Contract success is based upon a sound understanding between the partners. It is here that the use of a system of bidding is clearly demonstrated.

Recently, at the convention of Culbertson teachers in New York, I saw a hand played in one of the Duplicate events which disclosed how strangers using the same system of bidding may reach high contracts with scarcely an element of risk. Certainly the element of risk was much less than the results sought. Four ladies from southern states had arranged to play as members of a team of four in one of the Duplicate events on that program. One member of the team was unable to be present, so a young man from Philadelphia was chosen to fill the vacancy. The talk between the two partners was brief. Mrs. Meredith Jerow, of Norfolk, Va., was to play with Mr. Francis White, of Philadelphia.

"Of course," said Mrs. Jerow, "we will play the Culbertson System, but don't you think we should be conservative until we see how we get along together?"

"I certainly do," responded Mr. White, and the cards were picked up by the players.

Miss Settle Weds Paul A. Collier At Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mildred Settle and Paul Arnold Collier was solemnized at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Settle, on South Church street, in East Point. Rev. W. A. Duncan, pastor of the First Baptist church of East Point, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The ceremony was performed beneath a graceful arch leading from the music room to the living room, the improvised altar being formed of palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums. On each side were seven-branched candelabra holding burning candles.

An appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered, the musicians being concealed in a bower of palms. E. M. Robinson played "Barcarolle," from "Tales of Hoffman," on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. William A. Simpson at the piano. Mrs. R. E. Broyles sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Simpson, who used Mendelssohn's wedding march for the entrance of the bride party. During the ceremony McDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was played.

The bride and bridegroom entered together. The bride, of striking brunette type, wore a French model of brown chiffon velvet made on simple close-fitting lines. Completing her ensemble were accessories in matching shades of brown, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Collier is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Settle and received her education at the Monday School for Girls and the Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville. Mr. Collier, who is the youngest son of Mrs. B. H. Collier and the late B. H. Collier, of Jefferson, Ga., attended Oglethorpe University and University of Georgia. He is connected with the state highway department in East Point.

The couple left for points of interest in Florida and on their return will be at home with the bride's parents at 205 South Church street, East Point.

6TH WARDERS TO PUSH PLAN FOR UNDERPASS

Added impetus was given the project to erect a Hemphill avenue North side drive underpass beneath Southern railway tracks Monday night when members of the Sixth Ward Improvement Club met at the Madison Bell as president and formed a special committee of 15 citizens to seek co-operation of the city, county and the railroad in the project.

In addition to pushing the underpass movement, the committee will seek completion of Luckie street, extension of Techwood drive and widening of Williams street to relieve traffic congestion in that section of the city.

Arthur H. Scott heads the improvement committee and included in its membership are Reuben Arnold, Eugene V. Haynes and Marion Smith, large property holders.

Other officers selected at the meeting, held at the Luckie Street school, include H. B. Randall, secretary, and Miss Anna Owen, sister of Councilman John Owen, of the ward, treasurer.

"We intend to push the projects to the utmost, laying especial emphasis on the underpass," Bell said Monday night. "The sixth ward, the richest in Atlanta, the ward which pays about one-third of the entire taxes of the city, is the poorest in civic development and improvements. We think as a matter of common justice and equity that the ward is entitled to the improvements it is seeking, and believe that council and the county commission will co-operate in them, recognizing the justice of the claim."

Public welfare department of the West End Woman's Club will sponsor a program at the Base Hospital No. 48 this evening, under the direction of Jack Epply and Lila Gordon, of the Broadway School of Dancing.

A Last-Minute Shopping Tip

... that will save you lots of trouble

Shopping minutes are doubly precious now—the time is short and crowds are at their greatest!

Save your shopping minutes by shopping the most convenient, comfortable and rapid way. Shop by street car!

* * *

Now that you have discovered the real advantages of this modern mode of personal transportation, permit us to give you this suggestion: AVOID THE EVENING "RUSH HOUR" beginning at five o'clock!

It will be more convenient and comfortable for you and it will be a Christmaslike act of consideration for the thousands of workers who, beginning at this hour, ride the street cars home after a day at their many tasks. Most any other time we can offer you plenty of seats, but we, like all others, are just a bit rushed in these bustling days just before the Big Day comes.

This little forethought in your shopping plans will be a big help to yourself and to others.

Louis Johnson Given Supper-Dance At Brookhaven Club Last Evening

The spirit of Christmastime was exemplified by the brilliantly lighted balm trees, the harmonious blending of reds and greens in holly and poinsettia blossoms and the mistletoe featured in the decorations for the elaborate supper-dance given last evening at the Brookhaven Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Johnson, in honor of their son, Louis Johnson.

More than 150 belles and beaux in the younger set of society greeted the honor guest, who returned from Woodberry Forest school, in Orange, Va., to spend the holidays here. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, their son, and their mother, Mrs. Louis Johnson, received the guests in the lounge of the clubhouse, which was adorned with palms, ferns and red flowers. Holly wreaths, tied with red ribbon bows, were hung at the windows in the ballroom, and the chandeliers were veiled in crimson shades.

The orchestra was almost concealed from view in the miniature forest of pine trees, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, the orchestra rendering a program of popular numbers. In a special figure danced during the evening, a party bag, embroidered with pearls and rhinestones, was given as a special prize to a young girl, while a white silk muffer was presented to a boy.

Mothers' Club Meets.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am a school teacher and in love with a man much less well educated than I. He is respected. He has a good reputation and a good character. I know he is devoted to me and wants to marry me. I have promised him that I would. Should the fact of his poor education constitute a barrier between us when other things are satisfactory? Should one place education above love and religion and character? PERPLEXED.

ANSWER:

No indeed, one shouldn't place education above love and religion and character. Unfortunately it so happens that when a woman has these attributes plus an education and her husband has these attributes minus an education she puts herself above him in her own mind and the day she does it she shuts the door in the face of their happiness. Many a woman with a beautiful education is happily married to a man with a poor one. There must be some circumstances in their common life to help them bridge the inequality, however. The woman must be insensitive to the bad grammar that is sure to come out and the man must be insensitive to the criticism of his wife that is sure to follow. Or he must have some distinction that enables his wife to look up to him in spite of her superior learning. If you doubt the truth of that, look at the countless women of culture who marry rich men without any education. They sit by blandly while their husbands murder the king's English and not a murmur of protest escapes their lips.

It is not that their particular brand of education is superior to the brand of education that the nagging wife has acquired. It is simply that the distinction which the rich man's money gives him in the eyes of his wife absolves him from her reproaches. Contentable, you say. No, it's not. It takes brains to make money and it takes more brains to keep it. The man who makes it deserves credit. Let him have it. If it won't buy him a good and adoring wife it isn't worth the struggle to get and keep. Education is not a book to be used by those that have acquired it to beat over the head the individuals that have not been so fortunate. Rather it is true medium of measurement which, if used rightly, measures the virtues of the educated and the uneducated. It enables those who carry it to see the rough diamonds as sparkling jewels and the untrained mind as glittering gold. If it fails to evaluate correctly, it is a faulty education. If it doesn't take into account the virtues of the ignorant and the vices of the learned, it is worthless.

Every point of congeniality between a man and his wife is a distinct advantage in the building of a happy marriage. But love and mutual respect will wipe out many a disadvantage and I should call lack of education on the husband's part merely a disadvantage.

North Carolina Guests Are Feted at Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Jones, of Greensboro, N. C., who will arrive Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McKinney at their home on Peachtree road, will be honored at a number of informal parties during their visit. Mr. and Mrs. McKinney will be hosts at a buffet supper Monday evening, December 28, honoring their guests. Sharing honors with these visitors on this occasion will be Mrs. Celia Mix, of Hollywood, Cal.; C. L. Evans and Arthur L. Mix, of Cleveland, Ohio, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans, Tuesday evening, December 29, Mr. and Mrs. McKinney will entertain another group of friends in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cochran will be hosts at a breakfast Sunday, December 27, at their home on Peachtree road in honor of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Evans' guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans have invited 150 friends for tea Sunday, December 27, to meet their guests.

Bridge Party.

Dr. and Mrs. Jay G. Wood entertained at a bridge party Thursday evening at their home on Osborne road. Dr. and Mrs. Wood have recently established their residence in Atlanta after spending two years of government service done by Dr. Wood among the Navajo Indians in New Mexico and Arizona.

Those invited were Dr. and Mrs. Paul A. Stegall, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Enloe, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Michel, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mulder, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fincher, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bailey.

GOLDEN BEARS HOLD BIG WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

DEMPSEY NEAR BEST CONDITION FOR COMEBACK

Mauler Thinks He Could Hold Own With Any Fighter.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, plans for major fights leading up to a title bout with Max Schmeling, are as indefinite as ever. But the old Max-mauler is convinced it won't be long before he is in a ring striving to regain the championship he lost five years ago.

"I'm not yet definitely certain how soon I'll step out of these exhibition bouts into major competition," he said. "It all depends on my condition. Whenever I reach a point where I can step in there and knock them out with something like my former pace, I'll be ready."

"None of these heavyweights can put me out now. I could take any of them on. After meeting a hundred or so second-raters, whose sole idea was to knock me out, I found I could still take them."

NOT SURE YET.

"But I want to feel I can flatten any man I meet. And I can't quite say that yet."

Dempsey is in Salt Lake visiting his mother during Christmas week. He will leave Saturday for Reno, and after a brief visit there, go to Chicago. From there he will set forth on another exhibition tour—he admitted they were profitable enterprises.

The ex-champion said he would meet strong opponents at least once a week.

NEEDS COMPETITION.

"For example," he observed, "I wouldn't mind taking on this fish peddler, King Levinsky, of Chicago. If I get over to Cleveland, I might take a whirl at Johnny Risko. These bouts would be longer and something akin to real battles."

"I found out on this last tour—the farther east we got, the tougher the fighters—that good competition was what I needed. Some of the boys I met were pretty good, such as Bobby Hunt, Retzlaff and a few others."

Dempsey believes Jack Sharkey is the "easiest mark" of any of the contemporary heavyweights.

"If I had my choice, he's probably the fellow I'd rather meet than any other fighter. Sharkey never could take a punch. And now he's soft. His miserable showing against Mickey Walker—in reality a natural middleweight—convinced me he is through. Why, he even had Carnahan down, but couldn't keep him there. All he ever had was a left hook and I rather imagine that's not much now."

SHARKEY MAX.

"If Jack Sharkey hadn't fouled Schmeling, the champ would have come back later in the bout and eventually knocked Jack out," Dempsey continued. "He was just beginning to get Jack's measure when the low blow was struck."

Outside of Sharkey, Dempsey doesn't much care whom he meets when he gets into the big time again.

"It doesn't make much difference," he remarked. "You'll meet some fellow who's supposed to be a soft snap, or like Tommy Loughran, you'll have an off night and he'll beat you by a fighter (Levinsky) who was hardly considered your match."

"So what difference does it make, after all?"

MAX IMPROVING.

Jack was careful of what he said about Schmeling. "He's a good fighter," he admitted, "and is improving all the time."

The former champion said his principal concern was timing. His legs, he claimed, were as good as ever. Apparently his punch still carries the old kick.

"But timing still bothers me and I want it back before I go against a real big shot," Dempsey said.

When he sets forth for Chicago, Dempsey probably will remain in a limbo state until he can get a fight.

He is seriously considering training in or near Chicago for his next tour.

Estelle To Dismiss Suit Against Jack

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A petition for dismissal of Estelle Taylor's divorce action against the Spelling actress' former husband, Jack Dempsey, pugilist, was filed in superior court today and bore out statements Miss Taylor made recently that a property settlement had been reached.

At the time Dempsey obtained a divorce in Reno, Miss Taylor filed suit here, contending a Nevada divorce was not contemplated by California laws.

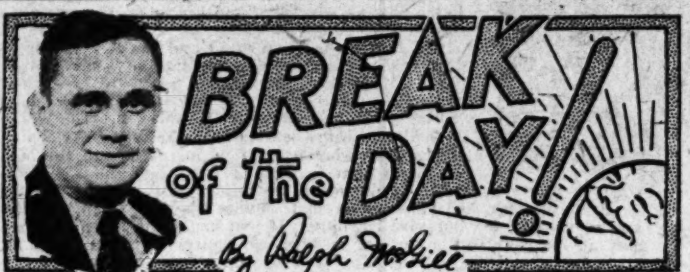

"To continue with my suit would be foolish," she said, "since we have arrived at an agreement over our finances."

Griffin High Plans Basketball Court

GRIFFIN, Ga., Dec. 21.—(AP)—A basketball stadium, costing about $2,000, is to be built at the Spelling High school shortly, leaders in movement to erect the structure said today. The county board of education voted $1,500 for the project and the remainder is being provided by popular subscription. Only several hundred dollars remain to be subscribed. It is expected to be ready for use soon after New Year.

Buzz Arlett Off To Minor League

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Russell (Buzz) Arlett, the husky outfielder of the Philadelphia Nationals, has been traded to the Baltimore International league club for Russell M. Scarritt. It was announced today. Arlett joined the Phillies last year when the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, Scarritt, with the Baltimore club, the past season, came to the Orioles from the Boston Red Sox.

BREAK of the DAY!

CHRISTMAS NECKTIES.
Some may long for the soothing touch
Of lavender, cream and mauve,
But this tie I wear must possess the glare
Of a red-hot kitchen stove.

The books I read and the life I lead
Are sensible, sane and mild,
I like calm hats and I don't wear spats,
But I want my neckties wild.

Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a cosmic urge,
A tie that will swear and rip and tear
When it sees my old blue serge.

Oh, some will say that a gent's cravat
Should only be seen, not heard,
But I want a tie that will make men cry,
And render their vision blurred.

I yearn, I long, for a tie so strong
It will take two men to tie it.
If such there be, just show it to me,
Whatever the price, I'll buy it.

Give me a wild tie, brother,
One with a lot of sins,
A tie that will blaze in a hectic gaze
Down where the vest begins.

—J. E. WRIGHT,
in Typographic.

AHEAD OF THE SHOW.

California's Golden Bears are essentially a defensive team. And any team with good halfbacks will give them trouble.

That is the rather pleasing information imparted by Mr. Ben Priestley, a representative of the Bears, who arrived in Atlanta Monday. Mr. Priestley is traveling ahead of the show in the old circus fashion.

"I am sure the football game Saturday will be a good one," said the personable young man from Berkeley.

"California has not scored many points this season. The largest number in one game was the 25 scored against Nevada, a very weak eleven. We have scored about half our points on passes."

"I understand that Georgia Tech has some good backs. They should give us trouble."

Not only did Mr. Priestley bring pleasing news of the prospects for an excellent game, but he did not comment adversely on the Atlanta weather. Mr. Priestley is from Berkeley, which is just across the bay from San Francisco. San Francisco citizens are not afflicted with the climate virus which makes all the Los Angeles citizens slightly daffy on the subject.

Mr. Priestley was assured that this was the usual Atlanta weather for December, except that it might be that the rainy days were setting a new record for consecutive days rained.

"Well," he said, "we occasionally speak of the fog from off the bay. If people insist that it is rain and not fog we don't argue much."

WHAT ABOUT TULANE?

Tulane's chances in the Rose Bowl continue to be the absorbing topic.

According to the form sheet the Wave hasn't a chance. The Trojans have more power and more deception.

It would be impossible to pick Tulane to win on the bare facts in the case. And yet the boys have a distinct chance. It may be that the Trojans played their greatest game against Georgia.

At any rate the boys are on the way. A full day's stop was made at El Paso for a workout. This will enable the Tulane supporters who are making the trip to rest their arches at the bars in Juarez. And after a few snifters of bourbon and rye I would not be surprised to learn that the Tulane fans were giving 5-to-1 odds. The boys are that confident without the aid of any Dutch courage.

Around Atlanta there seems to be quite a lot of amateur betting. The boys are getting Tulane and 12 points and Tulane and 20 points.

I wouldn't know. So much that had no chance to happen has happened right in front of me this season that it is difficult to adjust the mental binoculars and feel sure about things.

QUARTERBACK HOOVER.

Captain Nuck Brown, discussing the economic situation, declared that Herbert Hoover was in the same position as a football quarterback who had called all his plays and hadn't gained on a single one.

AT THE CONFERENCE.

From all one can see and hear and learn the favorite indoor sport at the recent Southern conference meeting in New Orleans was that of the pot calling the kettle black.

And the story goes that when the delegates went on a boat ride during the afternoon of the last day, a careful check was kept on all the boys to see that one didn't sneak down below and scuttle the ship.

I still think the better idea would be to investigate some of the conference delegates, rather than the football players.

THAT GOLF DAY.

And one of the most worthy events scheduled is the charity golf day, set for December 27. Any golfer can play on any golf club by buying a tag for the sum of $1. Green fees are abolished. And anyone with that amount can play on any course he chooses if he gets in a foursome—and that will be arranged for him by calling the clubs.

Those co-operating are East Lake, both courses; Druid Hills, Capital City, Ansley Park, West End, Inglewood, Forest Hills and Sweetwater course, in Austell. Thousands are expected out. All proceeds go to the unemployed. Each course offers a nice prize for the low net score—giving everyone a chance.

NEW SLED ENTRIES.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Dec. 21.—(UP)—Receipt of a cable entry from Rumania for the two-man and four-man bob sled races in the third Olympic winter games, February 4-15, today brought the number of entrants to 17. Entries close Thursday and several additional nations are expected to name teams before that time.

P. C. SCHEDULE.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—The Citadel Cadets will meet four Southern conference foes—Florida, Clemson and South Carolina—during their 1932 football season, according to the new schedule announced.

Howard College, of Birmingham, has also been placed on the Cadet list.

MARYLAND OUT TO REPEAT AS CHAMPIONS

Conference Title Team Returns Intact; Kentucky Loses 3 Stars.

By The Associated Press.
Maryland's basketball quintet, which won the 1931 Southern conference championship virtually by its defensive play, will return intact for the January season.

Coach Burton Shipley's varsity specialized on defense, while their attack generally was just enough to win. With Louis Berger, one of the coolest players in the conference, and Eddie Ronkin as guards, the Old Line goal was well protected.

Berger and Ronkin were of the running guard type and in many games outscored their forwards. They were quick and fast enough to take possession near their goal and beat the opposition down court. Both were accurate shots.

Jack Norris, the big six foot, three inch pivot man, and George Chalmers and Charlie May round out the team upon which Maryland will bank its hopes for another Southern conference flag.

Maryland opens its 10-game schedule December 30 in an inter-sectional game with Wisconsin at Madison.

Kentucky, runner-up to Maryland in the conference last year, has five lettermen returning, but three stars of the 1930 team will be missed. They are Carey Spicer and McGinnis, forwards, and Bronston, a guard.

George Yates, All-Southern center, will captain the Wildcats five. Worthington, a regular guard of last year, will be back, but the others lack experience.

Coach A. F. Rupp has had a squad ranging from 25 to 50 out practicing since October. Rupp plans an offense which will allow his team to utilize its height, since most of the regulars are about six feet tall.

OTHER TEAMS.
Auburn will have its full 1930-31 squad back, while Florida, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Vanderbilt and most of the other conference schools have several veterans returning.

Some of the teams have games arranged during the holidays, but most of them will start their schedule early in January.

Although football practice is a thing of the past at most schools now, Georgia Tech is working daily for its inter-sectional charity game here next Saturday with the University of California. California is en route here and plans several workouts on the way before reaching Atlanta Thursday.

Meanwhile, Tulane is heading west for its New Year's Day game with Southern California. Coach Bernie Bierman is pessimistic about his team's chances of victory, but hopes it will hold the Trojans better than did Georgia.

FLORIDA A. A. U. SETTLES DATES

Varied Program of 1932 Athletics Slated at Miami Arena.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Four of the eight Florida A. A. U. events for 1932 will be held in the Greater Miami arena, it was announced today at a meeting of state A. A. U. officials.

The state boxing tournament will be held at St. Augustine, March 24, 25 and 26; the track and field championships, at Jacksonville, March 25 and 26; the senior indoor swimming championships for men and women at St. Augustine, February 27, and the junior outdoor swimming championship for boys and girls, at Jacksonville, May 7.

Wrestling championship events will be held at Coral Gables, March 18 and 19; volleyball, at Miami Beach, here, March 5; senior outdoor swimming championships for men and women, at Coral Gables, March 20, and coedball championships here, March 1.

Florida A. A. U. officials, headed by Dean Winslow S. Anderson, of Rollins College, Winter Park, started a movement to have southern Olympic swimming tryouts held in Miami in March.

The officials decided that boxing preliminaries will be held sectionally at Miami Beach, Pensacola, Tampa and St. Augustine, the week of March 7, before the finals are held at St. Augustine.

Wisconsin Players Would Oust Coach

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Members of the University of Wisconsin football team who want letters this year have voted two to one against the retention of Glenn Thistlethwaite, head football coach, it was learned here today.

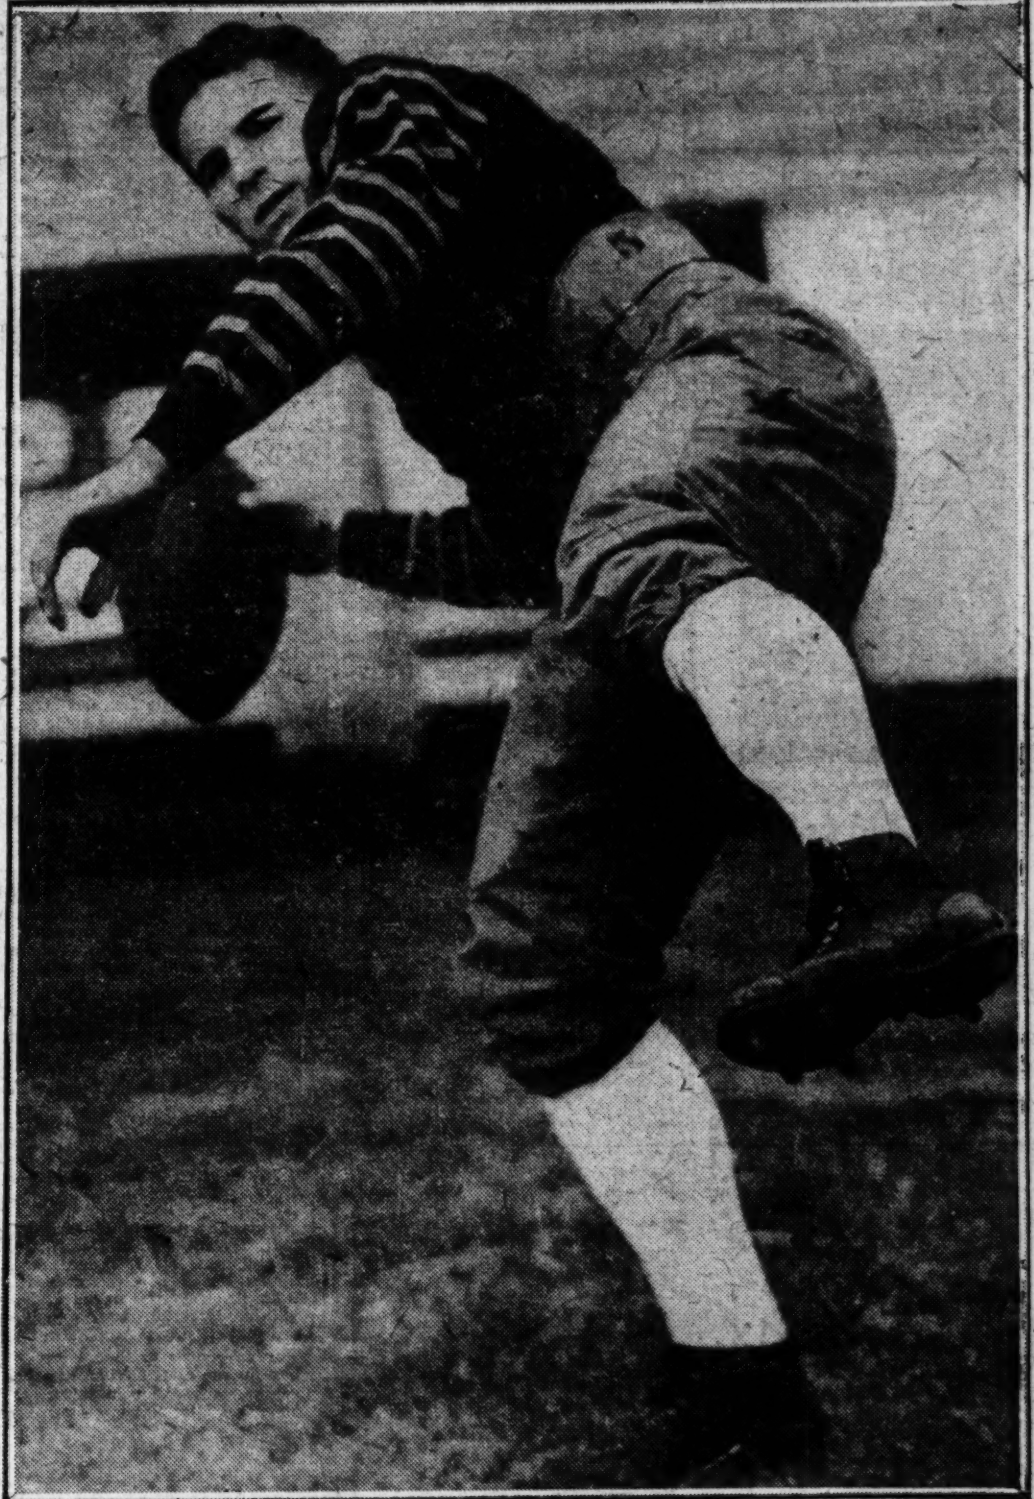

Gregory Kabat, captain-elect of the 1932 eleven, confirmed the report of a sealed ballot.

The vote will be submitted to the university athletic council which meets here tomorrow to consider Coach Thistlethwaite's status and the resignation of George Little, director of athletics.

STARTING TEAM WILL AVERAGE NEAR 190 POUNDS

California Team Will Arrive Thursday for Game at Flats.

By Jimmy Jones.

Those 36 Golden Bears that are headed this way from the Golden West are living, palpitating proof of what we have been hearing about California growing her football players full weight and as rugged as the redwood trees.

It's probably a good thing that Mike Chambers has discovered a slight expansion in avoidpoids on the Georgia Tech squad, for "our boys" are certainly going to need the extra ballast.

A live wire publicity man for the University of California sends the Atlanta sports writers a typewritten list of data on Navy Bill Ingram's huskies and among the important announcements is that the weight average of the entire California squad is 185.8, and the average height 6.11. The average age is 21.

SOME BEEF.
The weight average for the regular team is 180.3, the height average is 5.11-4 and the average age 21.

It is further disclosed that "Rusty" Gill, the Bears' hard-driving and crack defensive fullback, has just made two more All-American elevens, and that Frank (Butch) Medanhich, the center, is the unanimous All-Coast choice for 1932, having taken this honor from no less a personage than Stanley Williamson, captain and crack pivot man of Southern California.

Sam Gill, guard, and brother of the California fullback, is said to be a very brilliant player. Sam is the boy who was given credit for doing so much "despite the fact that he weighs only 180 pounds. That's the Californians' idea of a light player."

Add to the two Gills and "Butch" Medanhich the names of Ralph Stone, an All-Coast end, and "Hard Luck" Hank Schaldach, star kicking and passing halfback, and you have some of the California celebrities.

GOOD TEAM.
It develops that southerners won't have to go to the Rose Bowl to see one of California's good football teams in action.

Experts out there contend that there is very little difference between the Trojans and the Bears—the Trojans having the offensive edge, only. It must be recalled, also, that the Trojans barely eked out a 6-0 victory over the team that Tech meets here Saturday.

The Golden Bears appear to be as rugged as California's famed redwood tree on defense, judging by the low scores that have been registered against them this season.

The Californians will spend Christmas with Atlanta on their first visit to the north.

ARRIVE THURSDAY.
An itinerary shows that the squad left Berkeley station Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. They will arrive in New Orleans at 8:30 Wednesday night and, after looking forward to an old-fashioned southern dinner at Antoine's. They'll enjoy that and also the sightseeing tour that is planned through New Orleans' historic spots.

They arrive at the Union Terminal at 9:30 Thursday morning and will be met there by Tech officials. They plan two workouts a day.

Coach Alexander plans to give his young players a chance at experience in the game, not meaning that he will use reserve players, but regulars who have another year. These include the bigger portion of the Tech squad, such players as Neblett, Laws, Lackey, Tharpe, Cain, Williams, Goldsmith, McArthur, Barron, Hart, Galvin, Foster and Cherry.

A great crowd is expected for the game, the slogan of which is "Strong legs will run that the weak may walk." Part of the proceeds go to the crippled children's fund.

Golden Bears Start Journey.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Members of the University of California's "miracle team" were en route today for Atlanta, Ga., with high hopes of beating Georgia Tech's football players next Saturday and thus avenging the only defeat of the Golden Bears in six inter-sectional contests.

California's spectacular showing this year has created as much amazement as achievements of the "wonder team" coached by Paul W. Henshaw. And Smith that started California's string of inter-sectional victories. The Bears finished in second place in the Pacific Coast conference, losing only to Southern California, 6 to 0.

"Navy Bill" Ingram became head coach at California this spring. The alumni and student body, still upset because U. S. C. had trounced the Bears, 74 to 0, and Stanford had beaten them, 41 to 0, last fall, asked only that Ingram produce a winner in 1932.

Ingram started his new duties by making only one requirement of his players and that was that they fight. He sent members of last year's varsity to the third team, and made them fight to get back as regulars. He elevated some of the reserves to the varsity. Consequently, 7 of the 11 men slated to start against Georgia Tech had little experience in competition prior to this year.

With half a dozen simple plays and a 13-round bout.

CORBETT WINS.
MANCHESTER, England, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Dick Corbett won the British bantamweight championship and the Lord Londsdale belt tonight, defeating Champion Johnny King on points in a 15-round bout.

very little deception, the Bears conquered Santa Clara, Olympic Club, Washington State, Idaho, Nevada and beat Stanford in the "big game" for the first time in seven years.

The outstanding players in California's backfield are Ralston "Rusty" Gill and Henry Schildbach, who is a triple-threat man. Joe Smith, a new man on the first team, is the starter at quarterback. Gus Castro is expected to play 60 minutes against Georgia Tech as blocking fullback.

In the line, which is the real secret for most of California's starting success, Ralph Stone, left end; Dick Fox, right tackle; Art Carlson, left guard, and Frank Medanich, center, are outstanding. Medanich and Stone are the veterans in this group. Others in the line that Ingram plans to start Saturday are Louis Diresta, end; Milo Mallory, tackle, and Sam Gill, guard. The only regular suffering an injury is Johnny Bensome, left tackle, who has a leg infection.

Thirty-six players were in the party on the special train that will carry them 7,075 miles through half the states in the Union, for after the game the players will visit Washington, D. C.; Philadelphia, Annapolis, New York and Chicago. They return January 4.

FEW INJURIES IN PREP CIRCLES DURING SEASON

G. I. A. A. Games Provide Regular 'Movie Scenarios' in Climaxes.

By Roy White.

College football in many instances may have been hampered because of injuries, but there were fewer players hurt in prep games in the south this year than ever before. Not a single Atlanta prep team was hit hard by ailments during this season.

In watching 35 games, sometimes three and four during the week, the writer saw only one player killed and one injured in the fourth quarter and actually played the best game on the field.

Many other players were replaced because of minor hurts, but in no instance was the injury enough to keep the player away from practice more than two days.

STEPPING STONE.

Prep football is only a stepping stone to college circles, and Atlanta's midweek, sandlot and junior high games all serve to prepare the youngsters for the prep ranks.

And due to that excellent training by former college stars while they are in the junior leagues, many injuries of a serious nature are avoided during high school play.

Atlanta has more football teams than almost any other city twice its size in the country.

Its athletic teams both in baseball and football have won national prominence and it is due primarily to the long period of training which starts while the youngsters are in the elementary schools.

TOUGH LUCK.

Georgia Military Academy appeared the hardest luck prep team in the state during the year and figured in more hair-raising finishes than any other school.

Coaches and supporters were disappointed at least 10 years in watching three games, which supplied material for movie scenarios in the last two minutes of play in each instance.

The Tech High-G. M. A. affair was the highlight for excitement and thrills. Tech High turned defeat into victory in just four plays.

A regular Frank Merrill finish that is seldom seen in actual play.

ANOTHER THRILLER.

Again in the Lanier High-G. M. A. game, a thrilling finish was recorded. The Cadets were leading, 6 to 0, with 2 minutes to play. Lanier threw two long passes that tied the count and a place kick won the game. G. M. A. again became desperate and carried the ball to the 1-yard line, where a fumble lost the opportunity to score as the game ended.

In the G. I. A. championship Lanier-G. M. A. game, G. M. A. went into the lead late in the fourth quarter and seemed to have the game won, but Lanier came back in the closing minutes to tie the score and become co-champions with G. M. A.

The Points began a devastating passing attack and finished with a spectacular 35-yard run off tackle for a touchdown. A pass for the extra point failed.

G. M. A. led the Navy Plebes for more than a quarter at Annapolis, but wilted under the strain of a steady stream of Middle reserves. It required a last-quarter rally to beat the Cadets. Another spectacular finish.

THE NEW BALL'S COMING-OUT PARTY.

The fact that Lighthouse Harry Cooper, British-born Chicagoan, won the Pasadena open, playing the new dimension golf ball, throws into particular light on the changes that will be wrought. For Cooper very nearly won the last important medal play event, the Lanna memorial open, which was played with the old ball and a full continent away. He was beaten out by Sarazen in the Long Island event. Similarly, the good form that Wiffy Cox is showing was not seriously impaired by the difference in the ball's weight.

After winning the San Francisco match play open, he was chased Cooper over the line at Pasadena.

From a scoring standpoint a little improvement was noted over last year. Cooper's winning total of 281 being six strokes better than Manero's figure for last year when the balloon ball was the rage. But Horton Smith's 280 in 1929 gives the old rabbit ball the record.

MacDonald Smith, the veteran stylist, who gave such a brilliant exhibition in the new ball, was in taking the lead with a 66 over a rain-soaked course in the Metropolitan open last summer, was the only claimant to the new ball's supremacy.

The balloon ball was a great favorite with him, as it sat up well on the fairway, just right for his clean-clipping style of iron play, and it stood up to the wind. It was more reliable in the wind than the older ball. He insisted that although the wind carried it, the degree could always be foretold, while the ball sometimes bored through the cross winds and sometimes did not.

One remembers that about this time last year, general opinion was approval of the balloon ball, which by late spring was being roundly abused, so it is yet far too early to take even the expert's opinion as final.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Still hunting the American league's batting champion, a "Big Three" among pitchers that won 72 games last season and the best catcher in baseball, the Philadelphia Athletics are looking forward to the 1932 pennant race with no trepidation.

Connie Mack, who will celebrate his 60th birthday December 23, still is regarded as the best club in baseball.

The closeness and outcome of next year's competition depends upon how much the New York Yankees and Washington Senators improve.

While Washington seeks more punch and the Yankees better pitching, the three-time American league champions, with one exception, will place the same club in the field that started winning titles in 1920. The only new man introduced to the cast since that time is Shortstop Dibrill Williams, who replaced Joe Boley midway in last season and distinguished himself in the World Series.

The Athletics again will be fortified with the presence of the leading hitter of the league—Al Simmons. They will have Mickey Cochrane, who is fully recovered from the neck ailment that hampered him in the World Series.

Lastly, they will again present the rotation of pitchers that turned in 72 victories last year—Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg. Including Roy Mahaffey and his 15 victories, the Athletics had four hurlers in 1931 who produced 87 triumphs. The best of the young pitching prospects is Lew Krausse, schoolboy star, who made his big league debut last season.

Connie Mack's efforts since the close of last season have been devoted solely to increasing the batting strength of his utility corps. To this end he purchased First Baseman Oscar Roettger from St. Paul and Outfielder Ed Coleman from Portland, Ore. Coleman may give Bing Miller a contest for the right field job.

Roettger is slated to replace Phil Todd as understudy to Jimmy Fox.

Ernie Nevers Shines in Cardinal Victory

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Ernie Nevers led the Chicago Cardinals, of the National Professional Football league, to a 24-to-7 victory over the Memphis Tigers yesterday.

The Cardinals depended on line backs for their two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in each the third and fourth quarters. Miller got the lone Tiger touchdown after a 50-yard run.

Nevers carried the ball 31 times for 108 yards.

THE PORTLIGHT

Greater Variety.

For some time past this department has been advocating a wider swing in college sport to games which can be carried on through the rest of one's somewhat mortal life. The games referred to were such sports as tennis, golf and swimming, which are useful pastimes after one has finished college.

One complaint made against this was that such a development would interfere with collegiate games such as football, for example.

But the facts in the case fall to support this argument. Yale, Michigan, Stanford and Bucknell all have their own college golf courses, to mention only one group. Last season all four universities held just as much football interest as they had ever known. The average play of the year was up to a high standard. Michigan lost only one game. Yale lost only one game. Bucknell suffered no defeat and Stanford finished with a rush.

There is sure to be a big development along this line later on when the economic swirl adjusts itself. It may be halted temporarily, but the movement is well under way. It may even reach the point where we will begin to hear about recruiting and subsidizing and such, but the hard part for this generation to talk about, since these are games at which the crowds do the playing instead of the watching.

The Great Shires Returns.

Fortunes of war were back and forth in a hurry in modern sport. Not so long ago Hack Wilson and Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires almost created a new American pastime, combining the lures of both baseball and boxing. The act was a sensation, but after being tried apart, the two set out to create a new sport.

Atlanta has had his ups and downs, and Shires took a turn in the minors. The Great one was glimpsed as more than a fair ball player, with or without his Napoleonic complex, and he's proved it. Through last season he played with the Milwaukee Brewers, of the American association, and led his club to a record of 35 wins and 35 losses for 1931.

His base hit total set the league's pace. He's on the high road back to the big top, because he covered the first leg for the Boston Braves next season. With his showmanship a bit calmed down and his ball playing style more polished, this colorful player should boost the Braves' strength and put a new magnet in the turnstiles.

One Originator Views His Work.

Dr. James C. Naismith has the distinction of being the only man living who devised a sport which has been enthusiastically developed. Literally thousands of men, women and children prefer it to all other winter sports. Forty years ago he originated basketball, and since that time, this colorful player should boost the Braves' strength and put a new magnet in the turnstiles.

On Saturday night Dr. Naismith sat on the bench with Nat Holman, one of the most famous professional players of the game, who also coaches the team of the City College of New York, and the inventor of basketball.

Dr. Naismith said he had been functioning at his best. The Lavender quintets are invariably smooth, fast and crafty combinations, but he said he had been functioning at his best in the east, having won four games by landslide margins.

The game Dr. Naismith saw turned out to be a rout of Dartmouth's ambitions against the New York Yankees in a row and has already established itself as Columbia's most formidable rival in the Eastern Intercollegiate basketball league. G. C. N. Y. rhythmic passing and nimble floor work made a vastly different game from that played in basketball's infancy. The game was a body contact is the rule, and rugged defense prevails.

FATHERS AWAIT NATE'S ARRIVAL TO ARRANGE GO

Lewis Expected Any Time From 'Dawn On' for Conference.

By Edward J. Neill.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The battle of the runaround reached the mystery stage today as long distance calls rang out in Madison Square Garden at about 10:30 p. m., waiting for the appearance of Nate Lewis.

The matchmaker of the Chicago stadium was due in town at all hours from dawn on, to sign through Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, for a heavyweight title defense against Mickey Walker, the large middleweight, in the Mid-west Fight Club sometime in February, or March or April.

EASY WAITING.

It was not hard waiting in the Garden's new pinhole room, where Jacobs has set up headquarters to receive bids from Garden rivals for a match no one but Schmeling, Walker and Lewis seem to want.

The pinhole room is fitted with a fine free lunch bar, serving coffee and sandwiches.

While the reporters waited until they could hold no more coffee and sandwiches, Lewis telephoned in from Chicago, announcing superfluously that he had not left yet. He said he had congressmen to enlighten on the boxing law now before the Illinois legislature which would lengthen the championship bout limit to 15 rounds.

Lewis' announcement from Chicago quieted for the moment discussions of the match Jacobs insists must be for 15 rounds, and for which Los Angeles, New York and Miami have at odd times been mentioned.

Los Angeles seems to have lost interest in the proceedings, New York won't let Schmeling battle unless it is against Sharkey, and Miami faded from view when Bill Carey, president of the Garden, decided he didn't want to stage the match anywhere away.

LOSES INTEREST.

There is considerable sentiment that Lewis' trip here is on business matters having most to do with negotiating a lightweight title match between Tony Canzoneri, the champion, and Christopher "Bat" Battalino, featherweight ruler, and that the Schmeling-Walker discussions are a sort of afterthought designed to keep the ball rolling and strengthen the cause of Joe Jacobs and Jack Kearns as they shop around for a site for a heavyweight title affair.

Jacobs insists that Schmeling must receive $200,000 for his next engagement and that Walker must be his opponent. Lewis has promised that the law will be changed to 15 rounds in Chicago to suit the German and that the stadium can be scaled the receipts of $350,000 will amply cover Schmeling's demands, at least.

Lewis now is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow.

Boston Exhibition Announced for Max.

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight champion, will make his first ring appearance in Boston after his arrival in this country December 29, Eddie Mack, Argonne A. A. promoter, announced tonight.

Mack said he had made arrangements for Schmeling to begin his third national tour here January 11 against an opponent not yet selected.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Jim Londos, heavyweight wrestling title claimant, used a body slam to defeat Ray Steele, of Glendale, Cal., in 55.21 of their match in Madison Square Garden tonight. A crowd of about 15,000 saw the show. Londos weighed 201 pounds; Steele 215.

Tiny Roebuck, 247, Oklahoma, drew with Hans Steinke, 240, Germany, in 20:40; Leo Pinetaski, 282, Hungary, threw Joe (Toots) Mondt, 234, Colorado, 3:41, with a body slam and catch hold; Mattew Kierenko, 215, Russia, drew with Scotty McDougal, 212, Australia, 20:00; Rudy Dusk, 215, Omaha, threw Mike Roman, 202, Italy, 10:18, with leg split and cradle roll; Sammy Stein, 200, Newark, threw Mike Roman, 205, Greece, in 10:38 with flying tackle; Ralph Wilson, 205, Philadelphia, drew with Sander Szabo, 205, Hungary, 15:00.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Marchmont Swartz, All-American halfback of Notre Dame this year, en route to his home in Bay St. Louis, Miss., stopped here long enough today to say that the Tulane Green Wave has a good chance to beat the Southern California Trojans on New Year's Day in Rose Bowl.

"Tulane has a marvelous opportunity in the Southern California game," he said. He admitted that Southern California has a great team, but added that Tulane has one, too.

The Notre Dame halfback denied rumors that he would take a position as coach at one of the larger universities and said he planned on returning to Notre Dame next year to complete his law studies.

CHRISTNER WINS.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Dec. 21.—(AP)—K. O. Christner, Akron, heavyweight, knocked out Steve Demore, heavyweight champion of the United States Navy, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round main event of the annual Christmas charity fund program here tonight.

Peaceful Reynard Likes Fox Hunting

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—There's a fox here that obviously thinks this fox-hunting business is just a lot of fun even if he does have to be "it."

This morning the fox was freed after hunters and hounds had chased him for an hour. He was taken alive, the hounds looked up, and then turned loose again.

The hunters found him a short while later before the hounds had picked up the scent but the fox was friendly. He refused to run and allowed himself to be captured peacefully.

DIXIE SCHEDULE NOT TO BE CUT

Stegeman Announces Full 20-Game Card for College Diamond Loop.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 21.—H. J. Stegeman, president of the Dixie College Baseball league which includes Georgia, Tech, Mercer, Oglethorpe, Florida and Auburn, announced tonight that he expects to remain a full 20-game schedule the coming spring.

"For a time it was thought that a curtailment of the schedule was necessary as two of the members wanted less games, but we have decided to go ahead with our schedule originally adopted in which each team plays the other four games," Stegeman stated.

The league is expected to remain a six-college organization although several schools have expressed a desire to enter.

The Dixie College league was organized last spring with W. A. Alexander, of Tech, as the first president. In the first season, considerable progress was made, students took greater interest in games and attendance was better.

The league operates on a standing schedule with a statistician who keeps standings, betting and pitching averages. It is one of the most novel and most successful plans for the salvation of college baseball ever presented.

"SKULL" DRILLS.

Most of the riding time on the train yesterday and today was spent in skull drill with blackboard rehearsals of the plays to be used against the Trojans. Assistant Coach Ted Cox gave several hours of instructions to the linemen while Assistant Coach Lester Lautenschlager was working with the backfield men.

The boys plan a side sightseeing trip to Juarez, Mexico.

Stearns Likes Tulane's Chance.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 21.—(UP)—Marchmont Swartz, All-American halfback of Notre Dame this year, en route to his home in Bay St. Louis, Miss., stopped here long enough today to say that the Tulane Green Wave has a good chance to beat the Southern California Trojans on New Year's Day in Rose Bowl.

"Tulane has a marvelous opportunity in the Southern California game," he said. He admitted that Southern California has a great team, but added that Tulane has one, too.

The Notre Dame halfback denied rumors that he would take a position as coach at one of the larger universities and said he planned on returning to Notre Dame next

HIGHLIGHTS OF WALL STREET

By CHARLES W. STORM, Editor, the News Service of Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Action of the general stock market today indicated that professional bears were trying to determine whether the improvement late last week was of a substantial character. Liquidation and short selling was most pronounced in Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Telephone and Telegraph, Consolidated Gas, Steel Common and Woolworth.

The volume of stock offered in these issues, however, and the action of the shares, would seem to indicate that support is coming into the market at this time.

The market gave a good account of itself up to the last hour of the session when selling appeared in larger volume but not sufficient to result in any disorder or pronounced weakness. Continued steadiness in the general bond market again afforded some encouragement. Wheat, however, was a cent lower.

While stock prices were lower there was less "loose talk" heard and this undoubtedly could be attributed to the more encouraging statements made before the senate finance committee regarding the extent to which German bonds and short-term credits figure in the American banking situation.

Reports from Washington that the leaders of both political parties would make vigorous efforts to create the reconstruction finance corporation were a source of much encouragement.

GOOD BOND MARKET.

The fact that the general bond market manifested further steadiness with a better inquiry served to stimulate hope in connection with the future trend of the stock market. While no evidence can be secured as to the actual formation of a pool to support the bond market, the knowledge that conferences have been held in that regard has revived purchases of bonds, particularly the second-grade issues. Insurance companies are reported to be in the market as buyers at this time.

The appearance of large selling orders in Standard Oil of New Jersey occasioned some surprise since it had been generally believed that conditions in the industry were extremely favorable. Accompanying the selling orders were reports that the offering reflected nervousness selling from interests not identified with the industry.
